BOMB PLOT SUSPECTS FREED

Rhode Island Court Dismisses Indictments When Lally Fails to Show Up

Providence, R. I., Oct. 6.—When the clerk of Superior Court today called the case of the three men accused in the gas bomb plot which demoralized the State Senate on June 19, the State was not ready to proceed, and Judge J. Jerome Hahn summarily dismissed all three indictments for lack of prosecution.

It was the absence of Thomas Lally of Brooklyn that prevented the trial from proceeding. He is one of the essential witnesses for the prosecution.

The men on trial were William C. Pelkey, chairman of the Republican State Committee; William (Pooh) Murray of Boston and John J. Toomey of Johnston, R. I.

While the prosecutors made no announcement, it was assumed they would seek new indictments.

Assistant Attorney-General George Hurley announced Lally's failure to appear and explained his importance to the State.

"Something has happened to change Lally's attitude," he explained. He did not like to say what it was as advices from New York were incomplete. The prosecutor said that the missing witness was in touch with the authorities as recently as Friday morning.

Mr. Hurley asked for two days to dig up the missing witness, but lawyers for all three defendants objected and the case fell.

Lally was one of the guards employed by the fugitive Republican Senators who ran away to Rutland, while the political feud was at its height. He said at the time he made the affidavits resulting in the arrests, that Pelkey and Toomey tried to get him to place the bombs in the State House, and that ex-Senator Lally placed them.

GAS KILLS MAN AND WIFE

Somerville Couple Found Dead on the Floor of Kitchen by Neighbors

The bodies of Martin Stenger, seventy-eight years old, and his wife Elizabeth, sixty-eight years old, dead a number of hours, were found today in their gas-filled kitchen by neighbors who broke down the door of the Stenger apartment at No. 41 Oak street, Somerville.

Three jets on the gas stove were open when the police arrived and are believed to have been burning when the couple were overcome. A bad leak was found in the tube of the portable gas stove.

Medical Examiner Thomas C. Durrell pronounced death due to accidental gas poisoning.

Mrs. Catherine McCarron, occupant of the apartment above the Stengers, smelled gas today and traced it to the downstairs flat. She called Arthur Payette and James Shannon of No. 43 Oak street and the two neighbors forced an entrance through a front window of the Stenger apartment.

The body of the aged man, fully clothed, was found lying in the kitchen floor. That of his wife was in an arm chair beside him, also clothed.

Patrolmen Fulton and Lacy, who were summoned from police headquarters with a lungmotor, worked over the bodies, but the couple had been dead several hours and the effort was fruitless.

The couple have four sons. Anthony W., Emile and Henry Stenger, who live in Rochester, Pa., and Martin Stenger of New York. They were notified of their parents' death.

SPRINKLERS DRENCH RUBBER SHOE MAKERS

Several employes of the Boston Rubber Shoe Co., Commercial street, Malden, were drenched today when a kettle of oil in the varnish room caught fire and opened the automatic sprinklers. Shortly after the firemen had disposed of this fire, another blaze was discovered in the chimney. Little damage resulted in either case.

Lashes Wife of U. S. Envoy, Sent up for Two Days

Berne, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Hugh Gibson, wife of the American Minister, while motoring near Berne, met a peasant who was on a cartload of hay. The countryman, in addition to refusing to make room for the car to pass, lost his temper and struck at the machine with his whip.

The lash flicked Mrs. Gibson on the face and the chauffeur jumped down and took the whip from the angry peasant.

A local tribunal condemned the farmer to two days' imprisonment.

COOLIDGE WINS BALL FAN POLL

With the election only four weeks distant, the Boston American's Presidential Preference Poll finds the three candidates for President held fast in the relative positions they have pegged almost from the beginning.

President Coolidge's strength in Eastern Massachusetts, on the figures thus far assembled, may be said to be approximately that of his two rivals combined.

In a total vote of 6,822 the President's tally of 3,313 is only 201 votes

Great Crowd on Edge as the Giants Battle at Home for Championship

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 6.—Singing loud praise of the weather man who blessed the day with large orders of sunshine and June balm, 50,000 World's Series spectators were jammed around this historic arena when the lid came off for the third battle.

For Stan Harris' amazing Senators, Marberry groomed to the fine point in the stable, was on the hill best on hurling Gotham baseballers, for the second time in two days, into the loss column.

Hugh McQuillan, steady warrior of the mound, was John McGraw's selection to mow down the Senator's batsmen.

Today's battle meant the edge in this series, each team having copped one apiece, and from the appearance of some of the boys roosting along the concrete they had forgotten, in their excitement, to go to bed at all.

They expected the Senators intended to play Santa Claus today, but the Senators hadn't heard about it.

Only 500 merry villagers packed themselves outside the gates during the black hours of New York's uptown night. This proved totally unnecessary as the rush seats filled up slowly until just before the hour set for bitter battle.

The reception to the Giants when they trotted on the field was far different from that accorded them before the first game in Washington.

ROAR OF WELCOME.

New ork, in contrast to Washington, bellowed its welcome to the echo and the cry of greeting reverberated and bounded back off frowning Coogan's bluff in a volume that must have made McGraw's heart glad.

But the fans were not partial and they greeted Kid Harris' Senators with almost as voluminous acclaim.

Speculators reaped a mean harvest just before game time, offering single ducats at $100 and disposing of them without trouble.

FORGOT TO GO TO BED.

This afternoon's joust marked Gotham's first peek at the 1924 World's Series, and from the appearance of some of the boys roosting along the concrete they had forgotten, in their excitement, to go to bed at all.

BOSTON MAN BARRED; GETS FEDERAL WRIT

Giuseppe Boroni is dizzy trying to figure out his status under the immigration laws. Boroni came to America many years ago, settled at No. 26 Charter street, where he still lives, and reared a large family, all the members being citizens. But he neglected to become a citizen himself. Recently he went to Europe to settle an estate and when he returned to New York immigration officials ordered him deported because they said he had tuberculosis. When the ship on which he was being deported reached Boston to take on passengers Attorney Herbert S. Avery boarded her with a habeas corpus writ signed by Federal Judge Lowell, and took Boroni off.

LA FOLLETTE SAYS HE SEEKS VICTORY, NOT DEADLOCK IN VOTE

NO DESIRE TO GO INTO CONGRESS

Candidate Says He Would Not Campaign if He Didn't Hope to Win

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Expressing the opinion that if the election were held today none of the Presidential candidates would receive a majority of the electoral votes, Senator Robert M. Follette, in a statement issued on his arrival here, declared he was starting on an extended campaign tour for only one purpose—to win in November.

"If I wanted the election to be thrown into Congress," said he, "I would stay in Washington and take it easy for the rest of the campaign."

He avowed that reports from every part of the country led him to believe that the Progressive "tide is rising at a tremendous rate," and that he and his supporters could "increase the power of this movement to the point of a clear-cut election in November."

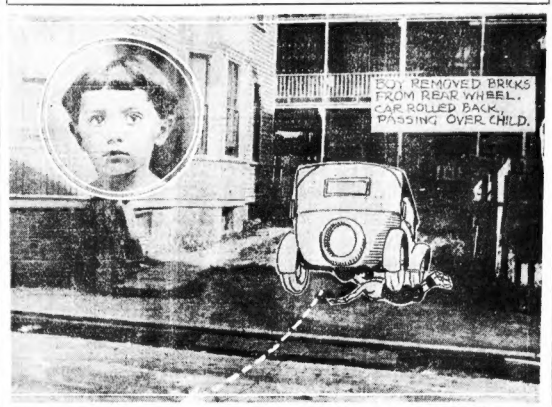
"I want the election decided by the people in a voice that brooks no misinterpretation. I believe the people want to hear the message I have to give. I intend to do everything in my power to see that it reaches them.

"When our opponents say, as they have been saying for the last five weeks, that our power has passed its peak, they are merely whistling to keep up their courage.

"We are in this fight to win and we will not be content with anything except victory."

Senator La Follette will deliver an address here tonight. He will speak tomorrow night in Scranton, Pa., then in Newark, N. J., before crossing Chicago, Kansas City and in St. Louis a week from tomorrow.

HOW DAD'S AUTO HURT BOY OF 5



CHILD REMOVES BRICK, RUNAWAY CAR WRECKED

Kimball of Bedham; treasurer, Joseph Flaherf of Attleboro; Arthur C. Comey of Cambridge, executive board members, Horace H. Gale of Natick, Gorham Dana of Brookline and Miss Elizabeth M. Herlihy of Boston. Twelve planning boards have joined the conference since last year, making the total membership 75.

THIERY BLOCKS ALIENISTS IN EXAMINATION

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, inmured in the Bridgewater Asylum, still maintains his stubborn determination not to be examined by alienists, a report filed with the clerk of the Superior Court at East Cambridge today revealed.

So far as the State Department of Mental Diseases is concerned, his mental condition is a mystery.

Thiery, accused of the murder of his brother-in-law, David Nobis, of Somerville, was taken to Bridgewater after he began to act in a demented manner in East Cambridge jail.

The report today disclosed that once while he was in jail and once while in the asylum for observation he was visited by alienists and declined to cooperate with them in a mental examination.

Thiery will not talk, leaving his actions as the only index of his mental state.

That means a long period of observation, for physicians are not convinced all his actions are disinterested and uncalculated.

CHILD'S ARM IS BROKEN BY FATHER'S CAR

There are a number of things a boy of five can do to the queen's taste, but driving an automobile is not one of them. Harold Abramson, who is exactly that interesting age, agrees.

Harold tried it, and he is in bed at his home, No. 76 Edgewood street with his arm in a plaster cast.

After a long drive with his dad, Harold went into a field to play, and his dad went into the house. One of the other kids dared the little boy to drive his father's car himself. Harold never could take a dare.

When they reached the machine they found that the older Abramson had put a brick under the rear wheel to hold it on the grade. Harold tried to pull it out, and succeeded, with disastrous results. The machine passed over him, breaking his left arm, and continued down grade into the street backward. It stopped when it hit a tree, but it might as well have kept right on. It was ruined beyond repair.

CATHOLICS HIT CHILD LABOR PROPOSAL

500 Churchmen, Assembled at Cardinal's Call, Hear Proposed Ammendment Scored

Five hundred representatives of the parishes in the Archdiocese of Boston gathered at the Notre Dame Academy in the Fenway, protested against the ratification of the so-called child labor amendment to the Constitution which would give Federal officials centralized control over the labor of all children under eighteen years of age.

Of the group which assembled at the special meeting, which was called by Cardinal O'Connell, there were two women delegates from each parish in the diocese, who will deliver to their fellow parishioners between now and election day the arguments against the child labor amendment, as expounded yesterday by Monsignor M. J. Splaine and Monsigner Ambrose Roche.

The sponsors of the child labor amendment were characterized by the two Catholic prelates as a group "who have long been attempting to overthrow the rights of the people as set forth in the Constitution of the United States."

This new bill, they declared, is being introduced by the same people who vainly sought to gain a hold on the government by means of the Smith-Towner, the Fess-Capper, the Towner-Sterling and the Shepard-Towner bills as well as other futile amendments, which sought to take from the States and the homes the rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

"We are met here today to protest against the ratification of this measure and to register our intention of voting to against Referendum 7 on election day, November 4," said Monsigner Splaine.

"We stand for everything that will cendulely secure the religious, educational, social, physical and economic betterment of the children," he explained. "But the child labor amendment seeks quite another purpose.

"It seeks under the camouflage of a misleading title to have the people, the families and the sovereign states themselves surrender to Congress rights that are sacred and inalienable.

"It proposes to the people of this country that they surrender to Congress unlimited power in the exercise of this control over all persons under eighteen years of age.

'ZEV' CLOSE TO DEATH FROM POISONING

Mistake in Alcohol Used Made Him Seriously Ill, Hildreth Says

New York, Oct. 6.—Zev, Harry F. Sinclair's noted colt, was accidentally poisoned with wood alcohol last Spring, it became known today.

Sam Hildreth, Zev's trainer, said that while preparing for a race at Belmont Park in May Zev strained the middle tendon of the right foreleg. He ordered the bruise bathed with alcohol, and the leg swelled to twice its normal size. The other foreleg was also swollen, and in a few days Zev was seriously ill.

Analysis disclosed that wood alcohol, rather than the grain alcohol ordered, had been used.

Hildreth said he believed Zev had lost $100,000 this year because of the poisoning.

Final absolution was pronounced by Cardinal O'Connell at the solemn high mass for John A. Bruen, director and treasurer of the Home for Destitute Catholic Children and teller at the Franklin Savings Bank, today at St. Paul's Church, Linnard street, Roxbury. His Eminence also delivered the eulogy. The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Frederack J. Allchin, The Rev. William A. Connor was deacon, the Rev. David Fitzgerald of Somerville sub-deacon and the Rev. Garrett W. Rosland of Quincy master of ceremonies.

Among those present were Mayor Curley, City Treasurer John J. Curley, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Fire Commissioner Glynn, Superintendent of Police Michael Crowley, Sheriff John A. Kelliher, former City Treasurer Thomas Murray and City Councilor George Gilbody, also delegations of one hundred children from the Home for the Destitute and Sisters of Charity. Interment took place in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

BRITISH GIVE UP FIGHT FOR SEIZED RUM SHIP

Washington, Oct. 6.—The owners of the Grace and Ruby, a British schooner, seized outside the three mile limit off Massachusetts as a rum runner, today abandoned, in the Supreme Court, their effort to have the ship released. An appeal docketed by them was dismissed, on motion of their counsel.

At the time the appeal was instituted it attracted wide attention, because it involved the jurisdiction of the United States to seize vessels outside the three mile limit. Since then, however, the United States, by treaty, has extended its sea jurisdiction in prohibition cases.

Plato Was Wrong / What Ails the Church? / Man Got Even / To Be Rich and Useful

—By Arthur Brisbane—

"AS THE GOVERNMENT is, such will be the man," said Plato. The distinguished Greek gentleman was mistaken. He SHOULD have said: "As the man is, such will be the government."

A wiser Greek than Plato said that if the camels had a god that god would have four legs and a hump.

Our governments and our gods we make like ourselves.

YOU KNOW one thing the matter with your government as you realize that for one man in the United States interested in the coming election, thoroughly acquainted with party platforms, there are hundreds intensely interested in the championship baseball series and thoroughly informed as to the records of the players.

ON SATURDAY clergymen expressed the hope that "every seat may be full tomorrow." That's a public spirited hope. There is inspiration in religion to be found nowhere else.

On Saturday, also, were published answers by young Presbyterian theological students to the question: "What is wrong with the church?"

Some answers were: "Poor teaching, misstated creed, too much conservatism on present day world issues, controversies within the church," etc.

ALL INTERESTING answers, but for newspaper men, who study the problem of attracting attention, the answer would be that the church is NOT interesting enough.

People in the country go to church and don't go in the big cities. Why? In the big cities there is too much competition.

In a New Jersey village of 150 inhabitants the other day, the Salvation Army "Tambourine Corps" converted every man, woman and child in three revival meetings. The tambourines were interesting. Salvation Army ladies and gentlemen sang loud and well. Their speakers showed heaven and hell as they really are.

But suppose the circus had been in town, or free exhibition of a great moving picture, or a desperately exciting match between two local baseball teams. How many would have been converted?

DEAN INGE of St. Paul's deplores the moral and mental condition of city populations. Deplorable they may be, but if you want to save their souls you must COMPETE, you must interest them.

Beecher knew it when he sold the slave girl at auction in Plymouth Church. Spurgeon knew it when he climbed down the outside of his pulpit to show how the devil would drag sinners to hell.

And Talmadge knew it when he roared and threatened and promised, and begged

POLITICAL NOTES

The hottest fighting in these closing weeks of the Presidential contest will be done in New York, Illinois, Iowa and California.

* * *

General Charles G. Dawes, the loud speaker of the Republican ticket, shoved his day of rest and is about ready to start out on a ten-day-jerk which will carry him as far West as Wyoming. He will go into territory looked upon by the G. O. P. managers as the sea of La Follettes chief strength.

* * *

"We have had enough of disgusting and spiteful bravery at the State House. We must all work for one purpose—that peace and respect for law shall return to our State."—Aram J. Pothier, Republican candidate for Governor of Rhode Island.

* * *

Move an amendment, "that peace, respect for law and the trained senators may return to our State."

* * *

Senator Walsh's engagements for today included a noonday rally on the steps of the Lowell City Hall and a speech tonight in Liberty Hall, in the same city. The Democrats appear to be bearing down on the fact that Speaker Gillett, the Senate Republican opponent, is 73 years old. Senator Lodge, they point out, is one year older. The argument appears to be that Massachusetts should have one man in the Senate who is able to saddle round.

* * *

Here's a distressing cry for the old maxims, wired indirect to the Boston Evening Transcript by a political reporter who, as a rule, knows the facts:

"The East has become so sure the President is going to win that it has tightened up on its purse-strings. It cannot believe what it hears from the West.

"Please permit the writer to make this observation: If Mr. Coolidge is defeated, or is elected, only to find himself facing a Senate controlled against him, it will be the East, rather than the West, which will be to blame.

"Think what this last week has revealed! With Chicago the headquarters for all activities, and with the battle beginning along the entire Western political front, it became necessary for the two commanding Republican generals, Chairman Butler and Treasurer Hodges to leave hastily for the East—for financial ammunition.

"A week lost now cannot be made up later on. No campaign was ever conducted more economically than this is being conducted.

"President Coolidge, as regards himself and as regards Congress, might well repeat, 'Protect me from my friends.' The quicker these friends make modest contributions, the less chance there will be of their buying creek on November 5."

* * *

The Child Labor amendment is a general grant of power enabling Congress to legislate again on child labor, as it did in 1916 and 1919.

The previous Federal acts embodied the following child labor standards and these only: A 16-year age minimum for mines and quarries; a 14-year age minimum for mills and factories; and an eight-hour day, a 48-hour week and ni night work for boys and girls under 16 in those mills and factories.

* * *

Only 18 States measure up to the age, hour and night-work standards for mills and factories. 12 States permit a working day longer than eight hours for children under 16, and thousands of boys and girls of 13 and upward are working nine, ten or eleven hours a day in mills and factories.

* * *

There never has existed and never has been proposed any child labor law, State or Federal, interfering with the work of children on the Home farm.

Our old friend Charlie Ponzi is in the position of the vaudevillian who "opened in one and closed in the street." Instead of beginning his stage career last night at the Colonial Theatre in Lawrence, Mr. Ponzi was idle. Mayor Walter T. Rochefort had sent word to the theatre that he would give the "international exchange" man no license. Ponzi also has been ruled off by the State Commissioner of Public Safety.

The reason Lawrence will not vote Yes or No on a new charter next month is that there were only 2362 "good"i signatures on the petition. The number called for was 2377.

La Follette-Wheeler workers in Springfield occupy the second floor of the Stone Building, at Main and Taylor streets, and have thrown out a big banner. President John F. Gaelee of the Central Labor Union is in charge. The Springfield La Follette-Wheeler Club is out for 1000 members.

LYNN SHOE WORKERS VOTE ON CONSTITUTION

All Lynn unions of the Amalgamated Shoe Workers of America were today polling a referendum vote to decide whether the union should accept a new constitution. Should this constitution be accepted it would abolish the general office, a district council consisting of two delegates for each local union and a district agent to be chosen as the union's governing body.

The change would become effective January 1, the Amalgamated giving up pretensions to being a national shoe workers' organization and virtually becoming a Lynn union as a result.

HAVERHILL MAN ON TRIAL AS DYNAMITER

Lawrence, Oct. 6 (I.N.S.)—Charged with being an accessory in planting seventy-eight sticks of dynamite at the shoe factory of Knipe Brothers, Haverhill, on June 4, 1923, John E. Merrick of Haverhill pleaded not guilty in Superior Criminal Court today and was sent to trial.

The attempt to blow up the factory was made during trouble between workers and employers. The dynamite and the electrical machine was discovered by an employe.

CHICAGO SOLONS BATTLE A DOZEN POLICEMEN

Chicago, Oct. 6.—State Senator John Joyce and State Representative L. J. O'Brien were arrested today after a fight with a dozen policement. The policemen sought to arrest them for speeding. The legislators were said to have beaten and kicked the policemen who first tried to arrest them and reenforcements were summoned. In a cell they made kindling of the benches. Two young women had jumped out of their car.

London, Oct. 6.—Following a communication from Nicaragua reporting that the Nicaraguan consulate general in London had been seized for a bond debt said to have been settled between Nicaragua and the bondholders in 1912, the British Foreign Office today stated it was not concerned in the matter, which, it understood, was an affair entirely between the consul and his landlord.

BAD CHECK PASSER TELLS COURT HE IS 'SON OF LORD HERBERT'

YOUTH RETURNS WATCH; TO MAKE UP OTHER SLIPS

From the son of a wealthy Chicago leather merchant over Saturday and Sunday, James T. Herbert, Jr., eighteen-year-old passer of bad checks who attempted suicide following his arrest, became the "son of Lord and Lady Herbert" today in municipal court.

Acceptance of the relationship was made stammeringly by the boy, supposed Chicago University law freshman, after Police Inspector Stephen Flaherty had told Judge Lourie it had been suggested young Herbert might be the son of distinguished English parents.

In the "Who's Who in England," however, there is no record of any Lord or Sir James T. Herbert, nor has Newport, R. I., where Lady Herbert is now, been able to recall any Lord James T.

ADMITS CHECKS.

Young Herbert was arrested Saturday in Springfield, when he was taken off the Twentieth Century Flyer for Chicago. He admitted that he had passed a bad check for $192 on the Carl H. Skinner Co. jewelry store, Boylston street, and one on a Boylston street shop.

When Inspector Flaherty, who went to prinsfield for the boy, went to his cell, the youth had completed rigging up a wire and garter suicide contrivance on his cell door.

Today in court, Judge Lourie was told the boy had returned the wrist watch he obtained on his bad check, and was ready to make complete restitution for other slips.

The case was continued for a week. Meanwhile a man on a Boston newspaper named Fuller, whom young Herbert said was his only real friend in the city, ill be summoned to court to tell what he knew of the Chicago youth."

KNEW LEOPOLD, LOEB.

To Judge Lourie the boy acknowledged that he knew Loeb and Leopold but had erred in saying he was the son of a leather merchant in Chicago. On Inspector Flaherty's suggestion that a news service believed Herbert to be the son of Lord and Lady Herbert the court quizzed the youth.

He said he would rather not talk about it. The boy stammers badly and continued to evade the questions on this score for some time. Finally, however, he admitted the relationship.

"My parents are known all over the world," he said.

Two men who said they met Lord Herbert's son in Newport, said the defendant resembled him, but could not identify positively.

AXE MURDER VICTIM'S DOG MOURNS MASTER

FAITHFUL BEYOND GRAVE

"Jimmy," the handsome St. Bernard dog owned by Arthur Clements, Burlington garage man, whose body was found in the Shawsheen River at Bedford last Thursday, has not barked since the body of his master was found. Although Clements has not lived with his wife, he saw his dog on many occasions; in fact, the St. Bernard would leave the Clements home on Bedford street, Burlington, and trot over the State road to his master's garage. Here the dog and his master would spend a couple of hours together. Above is shown Mrs. Charles Reed, granddaughter of Mrs. Clements, to whom the dog looks for comfort.

PONZI FIRST UP; LARCENY CASE CONTINUED

Suffolk Superior Opens Fall Session; Changes Made to Rush Cases

As the machinery of the Superior Court for Suffolk County began grinding out justice for the Fall sitting today, Charles Ponzi appeared as the first defendant in the criminal session.

Ponzi, now well schooled in legal procedure, did not place any serious objection to Assistant District Attorney Peter McCarthy's request for a continuance on the ground that Frank S. Deland, to be special prosecuting attorney for the Ponzi cases, was busy in another session.

He did, however, counter McCarthy's estimate of one week for his trial on the various larceny indictments.

"I'll say nearer four weeks," he said.

The following disposition of justices was announced: For first session, Justices Whiting, MacLeod, Thayer, Cox, Flynn and Donahue.

Judge Morton will preside at the equity motion session, Judge Duniaque in the equity merit and Chief Justice Hall in the divorce session.

Judge Dolan in Probate Court will also hear divorce cases.

There will be five criminal sessions in an effort to reduce the long docket. Judge Bishop will take the disposition case, Judge Posdick the jury cases, and the appeals will be heard by Judge Arthur P. Stone, of the third Middlesex District, Judge Albert F. Hayden of the Roxbury Municipal Court and Judge Jesse A. Marden, of the Southern Norfolk District.

Judge Donahue takes the Superior Court bench today for the first time and his wife and daughter were in court.

HI-JACKERS ROB TWO BANDS OF RUM-RUNNERS

Two Trucks and 3,800 Gallons of Alcohol Stolen on South Shore

Five hi-jackers, posing as Federal agents and working between Scituate and Cohasset, are winners today to the extent of 3,800 gallons of alcohol and a pair of rum-running trucks.

And the rum-runners, thus gyped of their more or less legal gains are taking their loss philosophically and not saying a word to the police.

The first holdup was early Saturday, when four rum-runners surrendered their truck and 2,200 gallons of alcohol without a murmur.

The bogus officers stopped them in a lonely house for four or five hours. One of the "agents" was obliging enough to let down the name of an attorney and a bondsman for the rum-runners.

Early today the five men, presumably the same, did exactly the same thing and got off with 1,600 gallons of alcohol and the truck.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY LIQUOR PLOT FOILED

Rye, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Seizure of six truckloads of whiskey and alcohol, with the arrest of eighteen men today, revealed that loads on the road here have invaded Long Island Sound. The moment started a local and Federal inquiry which, officials said, might lead into some of West Chester County's fashionable communities. They are working on the theory the contraband was destined for one or more of the estates of road houses that dot the county.

HUNT 2 AFTER CONFESSION IN SLAYING

Hallie Mowbray's story of the "two mysterious strangers" who figured with him in the murder of Frederick A. Clements, Burlington garage proprietor, was being given the acid test by detectives today.

Experts in the detection of crime made no secret of the fact that they doubted the very existence of the "strangers."

If there were other men in the garage the night that Clements was slain, police believe that Mowbray knew them well.

Mowbray, eighteen years old, and a connection by marriage of the murdered man's business partner, was reported as standing by his original story and becoming sullen under cross-questioning.

SEARCH IN BOSTON.

When he was asked about his possible knowledge of the murder of the unidentified man found in Haskell Pond in North Beverly, under circumstances resembling those in the Clements killing, he became altogether uncommunicative.

Not discarding altogether Mowbray's rather fantastic tale of the strangers who killed his elderly friend for money with which to buy liquor, the police are keeping up a search for them. It is centering in Boston.

It is among the possibilities, it is admitted, that the two men really exalted, really killed Clements and threw his body in the Shawsheen River, and then visited another garage and killed the man found in Haskell Pond.

There is also the possibility that the man found in the water at Beverly is one of the two slayers of the Burlington man. The slayers secured $62 from Clements' pockets and a fight over the division of this loot might easily have resulted in a fight in which one man was killed, police say.

MANY ARE QUESTIONED.

The body of the man recovered from the North Beverly mill pond still remains unidentified.

The murder victim is described as follows: Five feet, nine inches tall; weight, about 160 pounds; medium complexion and brown hair. The victim apparently had false upper teeth, which are missing.

The victim wore low black shoes, size 7, which were comparatively new; black socks, dark suit, white outside shirt and white undershirt. There were three patches on the trousers, one on the right leg. The patch was made with black silk cloth.

SLAIN FOR MONEY.

The confession by Mowbray, as given out by Police Chief Pollock and the State officers, was:

"On the night of Sept. 17 I was with Clements and two men in the garage. The two men, strangers to me, had hung about the garage at times.

"The two men and I wanted more booze but we had no money. The two men went upstairs to get money from Clements.

"They came downstairs with $73. They told me: "The old man is dead."

"They gave me five dollars. They threatened to kill me if I ever told anybody the old man was dead.

Gets Divorce and Can Have Her Baby If It's Found

Mrs. Esther Mason of No. 1 Evelyn court, Everett, may have the custody of her only child if she can find her, Judge Leggat, in Middlesex Probate Court, ruled today in awarding her a divorce.

Three years ago Mrs. Mason returned from work to find her house empty of furniture and her husband, Thomas F., and baby, gone. Since that time the police have searched the country for Mason and the child.

Axel Bjorklund of Cambridge threw his wife on the hot stove in a burst of temper, the latter testified in the same court, where she was granted a divorce by Judge Leggat for cruel treatment.

Mrs. Bjorklund said their troubles began on the day they married.

RUM BOAT CAPTURED ON NEW CHASER'S FIRST DAY

Motorboat No. 2 of the marine patrol of the coast guard celebrated its first day of duty on rum patrol today by bringing into Long Wharf the motorboat Pathfinder with a crew of three men and 1,200 gallons of Cuban alcohol. No. 2 will supplement the work of the Dreamer, is a much faster boat and is in command of Captain A. O. Hokensen. The Pathfinder, registered as B520, was left at the army base and the three men held as prisoners.

The men on the boat were Manuel Figereide and John Figereide of Cohasset and Francis McIntyre. They will be arraigned on the charge of smuggling liquor.

WAR VET IS OUSTED FOR TALKING BACK TO HINES

Washington, Oct. 6.—A dissatisfied World War veteran talked back to Director Hines of the Veterans' Bureau today while Hines was addressing the annual meeting of the Red Cross, over which President Coolidge was presiding. "I cannot picture," Hines said, "this government as unwilling to take care of every interest of the disabled veteran."

"Here's one—$25 a month," replied a voice. Hines continued while the man was led out by a detective. He gave his name as Nikolo Sesum, 45 years old, a World War veteran. He was placed in a local hospital.

PRINCE EXPECTED TO GO AFTER CANADIAN GAME

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 6 (I.N.S.).—British Columbia's plentiful stock of game may be menaced by a royal hunting party, it was learned today at the Empress Hotel, where H. R. H. the Prince of Wales and his entourage are housed for a two-day visit. The Prince received a special license issued by the game conservation board and it was thought likely that Frank Butler, secretary of the board, would make arrangements for a hunting trip as the Prince is en route east.

MISSING BANKER, POSING AS MERCHANT, ARRESTED

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 6.—Police announced today that a drygoods merchant known here as Max Bauman had been identified as Marcus Tauster, junior partner of the defunct New York banking firm of Garfunkel & Tauster, who left New York after the bank failed last January for $200,000. The identification was made by Miss Rachel Schleider, a former employe of Garfunkel & Tauster. He admitted, the police said, that he was the man sought and said he was ready to go back to New York immediately.

WIFE DIES AS HER HUSBAND SEEKS AID

Mrs. Sadie Candiani, twenty-seven years old, of No. 238 Hanover street, North End, died suddenly in bed early today while her husband, Riccoldo, was running through the streets in search of aid.

The husband was awakened by the groans of his wife and got into the street, half dressed. He encountered Patrolman McCool of Station 1, who summoned a police ambulance, but the woman was pronounced dead when removed to the City Hospital.

Society Women Busy Today at Uncle Sam's Market Place

By BETTY ALDEN

MRS. TIMOTHEE ADAMOWSKI and her industrious co-workers think it's up to you to do the rest.

They have planned and worked for weeks for the much-talked-of Uncle Sam's Market Place, opening today in Copley square.

Now, it's up to the public to see that this very worthy project is a success.

During the war you were asked to give—to give until it hurt. Today you are asked merely to buy entirely desirable articles of all sorts—and thereby help carry on the splendid work among disabled ex-service men.

The prime movers behind this big street fair, which continues through Saturday, have bethought themselves of every imaginable article suitable for a fair of this sort.

When you make your way to Copley square this week you will see Mrs. Lars Anderson, whose brown eyes are always nice to look at because they always have a twinkle. The literarily-inclined mistress of Weld is presiding over a booth quaintly named "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." If you go to Copley square you will find out what she has to sell.

I'll warrant Mrs. I. Tucker Burr will lose not one whit of her queenly dignity, even though she's directing such a bustling affair as the quick lunch.

Mrs. Henry DuBois Tudor—her daughter, Anne, is a prominent bud of the coming Winter—is acting as "check up." Mrs. Leverett S. Tuckerman, quick and vivacious as she is, will have her hands quite full attending to the bundle booth.

Mrs. Barrett Andrews is selling cigarettes, Miss Edith S. Ticknor is reigning over the bookstalls, and Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell has charge of the Cape Cod products.

Other booths there are, too numerous to mention, but it's safe to say that the prospective purchaser will hardly be disappointed by a visit to Copley square.

Watch for Miss Katherine Gray—as skillful a "skipper" as ever sailed around the North Shore—who's leading a band of hurdy-gurdy girls.

MRS. TIMOTHEE ADAMOWSKI

Mrs. Adamowski of No. 23 Chestnut street is of the large and smart group working for the success of Uncle Sam's Market Place opening today in Copley square. (Photo by Bachrach.)

IT wasn't at all surprising to hear that sport-loving Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., were to entertain the Prince of Wales at their Hamilton estate later in the month.

Certainly the Tuckermans are leaders of the smart hunting set down Myopia way, and the recently finished domicile on "Savin Hill Farm," as their estate is known, is one of the most beautiful along the North Shore.

This is the first year that the Tuckermans are occupying their new home, in former years they lived in the white cottage not far from their new home. This place is now occupied by young Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wolcott (Sybil Appleton).

Though the royal visitor comes to the North Shore primarily to follow the Myopia hounds, I understand that at least one "swagger" affair will be given in his honor during his brief visit.

$150,000 DRIVE ON TO HELP 'SALLIES'

The Advisory Board of the Salvation Army, which is this year headed by George W. Mitton, announces an appeal to Greater Boston for $150,000 for its general Maintenance Budget for 1924. This includes the support of the following institutions:

Evangeline Booth Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital	$22,750.00
Day Nursery for Children	4,500.00
Northey Dental and Medical Clinic, Dispensary and Hospital	18,000.00
Aid to Prisoners and Families, Locating Missing Friends, Immigration and Free Employment Bureau	8,000.00
General Relief for the Poor	20,000.00

Accountanation Department	2,500.00
Contingencies, Developments and Special Efforts	10,000.00
Total	$146,950.00

The chairman stated that it required a quarter of a million dollars yearly for the support of the Army's work in Greater Boston. The balance of the $150,000 is obtained in receipts from contributions and donations from members of the Salvation Army and from the earnings of the various institutions.

George W. Mitton

The members of the board present were: Dr. E. P. Sullivan, Newton Center; Sidney S. Conrad, John H. Johnson, Edward S. Goulston, Louis A. Coolidge, John C. Heyer, Allen Forbes, Edward L. Harris, Adjutant Asher, Salvation Army campaign Director and W. A. Nicol, associate director.

Charles R. Gow, president Chas. R. Gow Co., who is the chairman of the Industrial and Banking Division, has already organized over 100 groups, and the appeal is being taken up very enthusiastically by the various industries coming under this category.

Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames and Mrs. H. Addington Bruce are again organizing the appeal among the women of Boston, and are in charge of the Women's Committees.

STREET LIGHTS BRING STORM OF PROTEST

West Somerville Residents Object to Unsightly Wiring on Oaipee Road

Five street lights burn in Oaipee road, West Somerville, where not one twinkled before, but the neighborhood of 75 families declares emphatically that it will do without the illumination rather than have remain the alleged unsightly poles, cross-bars and cables, hastily installed by the Edison Illuminating Company.

Charges of high-handed executive action on the part of several aldermen of the city, by which permission was granted over the heads of objecting property owners to the illuminating company to put up the lights, has started a small sized war between residents and the City Hall.

Ever since Oaipee road was laid out as a street some years ago, not a street light has glimmered to guide folks through its short length. All of the homes are supplied with Edison current.

The street poles, it is claimed by the objectors, destroy the beauty of the thoroughfare.

A few days ago the service trucks of the Edison Company came up the street, discharged their cargoes of poles and lamps and men, and work was immediately begun to set up a modern lighting system. According to William N. Kenney, there was no notice given to abutters of the plans of the lighting company, and everyone who was present at a public meeting, two months ago in Somerville City Hall to consider the problem, was convinced the Edison application to erect poles in the street had been overwhelmingly defeated.

All the objectors vehemently assert that they will descend en masse Thursday night on City Hall.

POTHIER TRIAL TO BE RESUMED TOMORROW

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 6.—After a recess since Friday, the trial of Roland H. Pothier of Rhode Island, former sergeant-bugler in the 213th Engineers, accused of the murder of Major Alexander Cronkhite on the Camp Lewis military reservation six years ago, will be continued tomorrow.

Scientist Expects to Control Energy of Broken Atom

London, Oct. 6.—Discussion of the subject of the "death ray" has broken out anew with the declaration by Professor T. F. Wall of the electrical research department of the University of Sheffield that he believes he will be able soon to break up the atom and control its energy.

Prof. Wall says that if he succeeds, the question of the possibility of directing such energy in any desired way would become of supreme importance, he added.

Professor A. M. Low, famous scientist, commenting on the attempt to release atomic energy, said: "It is a thing that is not impossible, but it strikes me as being not a little way in advance of human knowledge as it stands at present."

$50,000 FIRE IN SPRINGFIELD BLOCK

Springfield, Oct. 6 (I.N.S.)—Damage estimated at more than $50,000 was caused by a fire in the Carlisle Hardware Company building, a six-story structure, at No. 326 Main street, today, in the heart of the business district. A general alarm was necessary to battle the blaze that for a time threatened to wipe out the entire block. Tenants occupying other parts of the building and nearby structures suffered heavy damage from water.

Ernest Faulkner, head of the Waltham Watch & Clock Company strikers, declared today that as far as the strikers are concerned Charles G. GUARD PALACE AFTER FATAL CUBAN BATTLE

Adherents of Ex-President Menocal and Camaguey Police in Clash

Havana, Oct. 5 (I.N.S.).—The military guard about the presidential palace was heavily reinforced today as a result of a fatal battle at Camaguey in which seven were killed and 42 wounded.

Fifteen of the wounded men are in grave condition.

The pitched battle in the streets of Camaguey between political adherents of former President Menocal and police raged for two hours. Buildings were riddled with bullets.

Soldiers were called from their barracks and restored order.

The fighting followed an attack upon Menocal's special train near Camaguey. Shots were fired at the train and two men were wounded. General Menocal, who is a candidate for President, had ousted President Zayas and other members of the Cuban government of working for the election of his opponent, General Machado, a Liberal.

The Cabinet will refuse the Liberal request for an inquiry into the handling of the case against a Communist editor unless unforeseen circumstances take place.

Premier MacDonald was quoted in an interview today as declaring that the government will feel obliged to resign at once if the motion of censure put forward by the Times is passed by Commons.

A number of the leaders of the Labor party favor resignation of the Premier.

WE KEEP ONLY WHAT WE GIVE—COOLIDGE

President Pays Tribute to the Work of Mercy of the Red Cross

Washington, Oct. 6 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge, formally opening the annual meeting of the American Red Cross here today, paid glowing tribute to that great institution of mercy, declaring its existence to be living proof that "materialism is not the dominant attitude of the people of the United States." He praised the world-wide humanitarian work of the Red Cross and urged the development of civilization along the same unselfish lines.

In the course of his remarks, President Coolidge furnished the Red Cross with a number of axioms, as:

"It is about the only organization I have known that does any good by looking for trouble."

"The spirit of sacrifice can never be demobilized."

"We keep only what we give."

"The Red Cross idea will develop in marked degree," the President said. "The ideals underlying civilization are the ideals of brotherly love, of tolerance, of kindliness, of charity."

"One of the great tasks confronting civilization is just this—a bit of practical idealism, sensitive to duty, alert and ready to make the sacrifice necessary to relieve suffering and save the way to a return of normal and happier things."

He said that America and mankind appeal for $3,000,000 for aid brought the Japanese earthquake when an treated its unselfish sympathy during in over $11,000,000.

Gloriously Clear Teeth

Why you may already have them—and yet not realize it

Make this unique test. Find out what beauty is beneath the dingy film that clouds your teeth

DO you seriously want dazzlingly clear teeth—teeth that add immeasurably to your personality and attractiveness?

You can have them, if you wish. That's been proved times without number. But not by continuing with old methods of cleansing and of brushing.

Modern science has discovered a new way. A radically different principle from old ways; and based on latest scientific findings. This offers you a test, free. Simply mail the coupon.

How to gain them—quickly

There's a film on your teeth. Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel it. Beneath it are the pretty teeth you envy in others. Ordinary methods won't successfully remove it.

That is why this test is offered. For when you remove that film, you'll be surprised at what you find. You may actually have beautiful teeth already—and yet not realize it. Find out!

What that film is

Film is a viscous coat that is ever present, ever forming on your teeth.

Most tooth troubles now are traced to it. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

That film, too, absorbs stains .... stains from food, from smoking, from various causes. And that is why your teeth look "off color."

You must remove it at least three times daily. And thus combat it constantly. Results in whiteness, in clearness and lustre are a revelation.

New methods now remove it

Old-time dentifrices could not successfully fight that film. So most people had dingy teeth. And tooth troubles increased alarmingly.

Now new methods have been found. And embodied in a new type tooth paste called Pepsodent.

It acts to curdle the film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap, no chalk; no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Foremost dental authority of the world now urges this modern way. People of some 50 different nations employ it. It marks a new era in tooth health and beauty.

Thus this new way is changing the tooth cleansing habits of the world.

It proves the folly of ugly teeth. It gives better protection against pyorrhea, of tooth troubles both in adults and in children.

Ten days' use will prove its benefits. And that 10 days is offered to you as a test. Why not make it then? —have prettier teeth, whiter teeth?

Send the coupon

Mail the coupon now before you forget. You will thank us for what you find.

HELP YOUR CLUB GROW AND WIN A PRIZE

By Martha Lee

I KNOW that every single member of the WNAC American Women's Club joins me in the wish that our club might have the very largest membership of any women's organization in the United States. And when we stop to think that we only banded together June 1, and today number 2,802 strong, it doesn't seem such an unpractical dream after all, does it?

One of our members wrote me yesterday that although she was the mother of three active boys, she felt that she would like to give an hour a day of her time to getting new members, as she thought every housekeeper in New England should share in the help and pleasure she is receiving from her membership.

And I'm sure there are hundreds of others in our club who feel the same way.

So, to make it more interesting and exciting, I'm going to forget recipes and menus during October and award prizes to those sending in the largest number of new members to the WNAC American Women's Club!

Don't you all think it's a wonderful idea? We'll be getting nearer our goal of the largest membership every day and you will be bringing pleasure and benefit to your friends and at the same time will be in line for one of the eight lovely prizes that I'm going to give, if can't tell you today just what they will be, but you know they are always beautiful and valuable, so watch this page for further announcements and pictures of the prizes.

Meanwhile, get busy by telephone, letter, on foot or on horseback, bugsy or motor car—starting your list of new members. No coupon is necessary, unless you find it more convenient. Just carefully print the names and addresses of the ladies whom you have secured for members and membership cards will be sent to them immediately.

Get the jump on your neighbor by starting this very evening—and watch this page for further announcements.

Martha Lee will announce the winners of the September prizes on this page Monday, October 13.

FADS OF FASHION

TIMELY Tunics Triumph over all other blouse or dress styles, for they are made in types appropriate for all social needs. Three distinctly different types can be worn with the same black satin slip, thus filling all dress requirements, for morning, afternoon and evening of a busy day. The three varying types of tunics suggested are—a severely tailored, button trimmed, long-sleeved model of black satin or silk crepe for morning shopping, or georgette short-sleeved type for afternoon tea, and an exquisite metal brocade, sleeveless tunic for formal evening wear.

Dangerous Daggers such as were carried by bold pirates of old, form the inspiration for the very odd umbrella handles that are made of amber and black composition. These smooth, heavy handles imitate the

PARIS SENDS NEW IDEAS

A very smart coat with a hint of Directoire influence is sketched at the left. It is a POIRET model and is one of his most successful coats for autumn. The material is Empire green velours-de-laine while the belt and buttons are of black leather. An original arrangement of the buttons at the front is the most worthy note in this smart coat. They are spaced rather closely in a diagonal line curving gradually from the right shoulder to the left side at the knee. As the line of buttons swings towards the left, more and more of the material forming the edge of the fastening is released, and this falls in an undulating line that is very chic. The narrow leather belt passes under this piece and comes again to sight through a slit in line with the buttons. There is a high-collar of divided Directoire feeling buttoning closely about the throat, while turned-back cuffs of the material show the same inspiration.

Another coat from the same house is shown in the right hand sketch. It shows quite as much originality as the previous model but in a different sense. It is built of dark blue velours-de-laine and lined with bright red crepe. The long scarf-collar fastens just beneath the right ear with three red leather buttons and red wool embroidery makes the large motifs at each end of the piece. The diagonal fastening running from the right shoulder to the left hip is held in position by a series of small straps of red leather with nickel buckles. The sleeves are straight and finished with flat cuffs, and a seam about the hips marks a moderately low waistline.

FAMILY LIFE IDEALS

By Wm. A. McKeever

Noted Lecturer and Authority on Educational and Sociological Subjects

DURING recent months, there has been a great deal of interest in the development of the ideals involved in the well-balanced family. Since the home is the basic unit of society and of human progress, things cannot be too much publicity about this sort of thing.

But, what is the ideal family, which never exists in fact, and which may nevertheless serve as a standard toward which to work? We cannot do better here than to give a consensus of opinion and a general statement of the conclusions as revived from a national study of the matter.

Numbers—while there are splendid families varying in numbers from two to ten children, it is believed that the great American standard must settle down to from three to five offspring, all well cared for.

Physical conditions—The physique of the model family is neither large nor small, but the physical health is a matter to be copiously attended to by all the members. Common-sense diet, exercise, temperate living, and the like, will characterize the situation.

Thrift and Business—The members of the ideal family are all interested in the budget and they all learn to cooperate in its management. The children learn to do common work consistent with their sizes and ages, and each one has his own small allowance. The house or home may be very modest, but there is at least in operation a reasonable plan for the final ownership of the home.

Educational Progress — Both the children and the parents are students. The children are all making an earnest effort to go on through the high school, if at all possible, and the parents are both in the habit of studying to keep up with the times and with their professions.

Social Contacts—The members of the family are all living in a fairly close fellowship with the community. They aim to have a plan of attending social affairs and public entertainments, but they try to balance these matters so as to make them contribute to the schooling and the other important business.

Citizenship—The members of the ideal family are earnestly desirous of becoming worthy citizens of the home municipality, the State and the nation.

Human Affairs—Finally, the parents and children constituting the model household are interested in human progress. They watch the course of events as reflected in the daily press and in standard magazines, and they give their voice and influence in behalf of whatever promises good for the human family at large.

If we are ever to know anything purely we must be separated from the body and contemplate the things themselves by the mere soul.

No man should so act as to make a gain out of another's ignorance.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, or bronchial asthma.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and tastes good.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SEQUEL OF CHICKIE

By Elenore Meherin

Boston Girl's Impassioned Love Story and Her Struggle to Live It Down and Come Back

SHE guessed what Jimmy's thoughts might be, and gave a soft, wistful laugh. Then he looked quietly at her and the fine, honest eyes demanded truth. "Remember that last day, Chickie? And things I said to you, and if you should ever want or need me—well, have you?"

"Oh!" For moments she could not speak, for it seemed to her a noble yet a pathetic thing that Jimmy should come now to redeem this promise. For in his young boy's heart the Chickie that he loved was gone, and he surely knew it. He loved the white, flaming beauty of her girlhood. He had watched its radiant blooming. That was the thing he loved, the thing he wanted. Yet now, though it was gone, his loyalty stood by.

Her eyes brimmed, meeting his. "Same old love of a Jimmy, aren't you? You'll take me if I need you? How darling you are! But I don't need you, Jimmy, dear, and you don't want me. In your true hear you know this. You loved what I no longer am——"

"That's not it, Chickie. I hate to think of your going along alone. Couldn't I make you happy?"

"No, you couldn't, Jimmy. And I would bring you nothing but a long, aching regret. You would have in your thoughts always the thing I used to be. In the sweetest hours you would know yourself robbed. Your thought would blame me."

"You were never to blame, Chickie. The man is always to blame in a case like this. I think the fellow who could look at you and not to hurt you is a white-livered rat!"

"Ah, Jimmy, after all these years you can't think of that time without pain, without anger, without feeling that I was frightfully hurt——"

"Could anyone, Chickie? Could anyone?"

Cheeks Glowed

There came into her vision an intent face with winning eyes and a voice that said, "As you are now, I want you—fear and beautiful—" A faint glow tinged her cheeks.

"Oh—does that make your eyes burn, Jimmy? You somehow would always be a torture to you. Yet I think it glorious that you should come and make the offer, you dear old darling. Don't you know, Jimmy, there's a golden Eliza waiting for you. Why don't you look for her? As for me—I need my lovely brother more than anything else you could be to me—ever."

"Who is Eliza?"

"I'll give you the book to read. I wish you'd find her. There are so few Jimmys in the world and so few men who keep any dream of love." Life ought to bring it gloriously to you. I wish it would. I'd like to know I didn't spoil the sweetness for you."

She wanted to see Jimmy's face, for the profile had a grim, pathetic look. He turned his eyes to her. She thought them sad—she thought the full of sorrow. He said: "You didn't spoil things for me, Chickie. I guess I knew you you never cared as I did. But I would be glad if you needed me, because I loved you so—"

Long after Jimmy left that evening she pondered his look and his tone. She said to herself: "Every one who ever loved me is made to suffer—every one—"

She thought of him who was tall, whose face had such a vital strength—yet whose laughter was a striking thing. And he, too, must suffer because of her.

Graduation Came

The day of graduation came. She was nervous, yet almost beside herself was a hidden joy. Jonathan was so proud, with his pink rose in his coat, and Jennie in white gloves and a patent leather purse, her face all beaming.

Jonathan walked down the hall with Chickie afterwards, and carried her diploma as though he were the only man on earth who ever had a daughter. He whispered in her ear: "Pretty as an angel, Chickie girl, that's what you are!"

Oh—that old fellow talking so, not caring who might hear, he could always put such warm fingers on Chickie's heart.

David came to the exercises. He stood in the back of the hall. She caught his eyes once. He gave her a winking nod. Then he came up with his hand out. "Put it here, little nurse."

When looking at him she murmured: "I may thank you for this, David—"

"Might you love me for it?"

Her lips trembled. There came tears to her lashes. So he laughed and sent his head down. "Thank you, sweet lady. I see that you do."

He made light of all her denials. He insisted that she take rides with him. And tonight she must, because he wished to be appropriately thanked.

When she persisted in her refusal he said. "You offered to keep me still as a friend."

"But I've lost that—I knew that I had—"

"Come, and I'll be the coolest kind of a friend—please, Helena."

She Went

She went. They drove to a hill where there were many trees, and the moon hung down between the branches like a gigantic yellow diamond. David put a little box in her hand: "A token of friendship, and congratulations, my dear little girl."

It was the first gift he had ever brought. It made her tremulous and ready to cry. She couldn't find the knot in the cord because her fingers fumbled. He snapped it with a penknife. And there was a wrist watch, chaste, yet most exquisite in platinum and diamonds.

She looked at it, and wanted to laugh, because it was so delightful.

"I see you like it?"

"But why—oh, David—I couldn't—such a costly thing as this—"

"Oh, hush with this and that—" He put it on her; he held her hand up and look at it. Then he said: "Sweet Chickie," and, bending quickly, kissed their palms.

When she grew silent he said: "I guy do that! A courtly right that a friend can take! Helena—what do you plan to do now—you'll take a graduate course in surgery?"

"I thought of that, but now I'm not so sure. . . .

"It is the thing you must do. I've asked Mrs. Ellis to give you a place. I'll be needing you—"

She laughed. "Then why am I asked, since it is all decided?"

"A matter of courtesy—lady—things are all decided, but you'll be asked a few questions just by way of a little attendance. One thing, as a friend I'd like to ask is this: Do you believe any one has ever a right to a second marriage?"

She answered astonished: "Well, of course! Why not?"

"You—I agree with you! Now that's answered. Helena, you wrote me a letter. It was very evasive. You can't, in justice, refuse me good reasons for the stand you are taking. I want to know why love and marriage are impossible for you."

"That is easy to answer. I know that a thing will follow me through life. It has so far. It will bring unhappiness. I'm not going to allow any one else to be hurt by it. It is mine and I'm the one to bear it."

"You mean that people will talk? That won't bother me. I'll beat them to it. I'll say: 'Yes—what about it?' What's your next reason. Please—won't you talk, Helena, surely I have a right to know."

"There might be others besides just two. I might marry and have a child. When this child was grown some one might tell it of its mother and this terrible thing in her life. You know a young girl, for the name would be hurt by that—how she might even turn from me—"

"No, she won't, Helena. I'll answer for the girl. Give her a problem, if you like; I'll give her ways to meet it. And youngsters, please God, as Mrs. Toomey says, won't be such narrow little prigs. I'll train them better. I'll give them courage to stand the gaff. You see, sweet lady, you won't have all to say about them.

"Why, by the same token you might as well refuse to marry because our children might get the measles or because you might die and leave them motherless, or I might have my hands smashed—then they'd get no bread. You could pick out a thousand problems more grave than ours—don't pull your hands away—I said 'ours'—didn't you hear? When my mother died it was a bitter grief. I thought then no one had the right to have a child, knowing that it could suffer so. But that's foolish and weak."

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

"BAD times again, Angie," he said grimly. "They seem to call up together often."

"I always know I can turn to you," I answered, withdrawing my hand from his reach and saying chap. "And this time I felt that others—in trouble were more serious than any I've ever known—could count on you."

"You know, I'll do whatever you wish," Ralph declared gravely. "I sent Hallorau, Park's chauffeur, on some errands. I got Park Manor on the wire before coming here. The housekeeper already had telephoned Dreamwold, and Fat Dalton is at the Manor. Stanley went out by train with Rockhill. There were several things Pat wanted brought out. I thought it best to come here as we planned and see if there was any direct service I could perform for Park."

Ann Lisle

Eyes Shone

"You always come in response to my need," I said, with eyes that shone with gratitude.

"This time it is for Park as well—and for Mabel," replied Ralph.

I looked up and met his kind, wise eyes. It seemed almost as if, without a word of explanation, Ralph guessed all that had happened during this evening. But I wanted to make sure he had all the facts straight. And I felt that it would spare Mabel needless agony if I could get things quite clear in Ralph's mind before she joined us. So I said in breathless sincerity:

"Park and his father were to dine here. Park came to tell us of his father's sudden illness. He thought it was 'flu,' but he feared pneumonia and drove in to town to get Dr. Sidley, the famous specialist. As Park was leaving Bonnie Buchanan burst in. Bonnie was supposed to be on a cruise to the Canary Islands. Mabel was staying the week-end with me. Bonnie insisted an misunderstanding. As Park was going Bonnie struck him down from behind with a heavy cane. We got the doctor who has taken care of Mabel ever and ever again, when——"

"So wife-beating is among Buchanan's charming habits. We'd better not dwell on that. Tell me how Park is."

"Dr. King is looking out for Park."

Grew White

"Will he come through?" asked Ralph, going white as he said the words.

"Yes. But the doctor isn't sure of his mind. One blow was near the base of the brain." I gasped.

"And Bonbright Buchanan gets off scot-free?"

I looked up in astonishment. Suddenly I wondered if in this case Ralph Lacy was going to advocate the desperate measures which were in Mabel's mind.

"Mabel can never go back to that brute!" cried Ralph Lacy, as if in answer to the question in my mind.

I fared this friend who has done so many fine things for me and repeated the words with which I'd been trying to impress Mabel.

"But if Mabel tries to make Bonnie Buchanan pay won't Park be the one to pay most cruelly."

Ralph looked at me sternly.

"Do you think Park would hesitate at the uttermost payment to keep Mabel from falling into the hands of that beast?"

"You make me see things quite differently," I said. "I always am satisfied with your viewpoint, Ralph. Somehow what you think gets to be what I think also."

"I'll never take advantage of that," declared Ralph as grimly as if he were making a vow.

DEEP FAT FRYING.

THE first time I ever attempted French fried potatoes, away back in the dim past, I hung my kettle over the kettle awaiting for it to burst into flames or boil over in some equally dangerous manner, as I had been warned of. I have since learned the kettle hung entirely to answer the postman's ring. And I believe that there are lots of both young and old housekeepers that still feel that deep fat frying is a mystic rite.

To-day, however, it seems the simplest method of cooking many foods, and chief among its virtues is the saving in dish washing, since your kettle for frying is used, as it were, in and week out.

THREE SECRETS.

There are only three secrets in this method of cooking—have your fat hot enough, don't overcrowd your kettle, and drain all deep fat fried foods immediately on soft, clean paper towels or brown paper. This is because in this way, foods retain all their flavor and juices and have a crisp and delicious outer crust with the absence of grease. Of course, cooked foods such as croquettes, cutlets, fish cakes, etc., require less time to do than fry than fish, meats, doughnuts, etc., and you will regulate the heat of your fat accordingly.

An old-fashioned iron kettle is ideal for deep fat frying, but you can use enamel or aluminum ware. A frying basket is all important and can be purchased at the ten-cent stores. This can be kept always in the deep fat kettle which should be covered and kept in a cool place. Your fat can be used over and over again for doughnuts, croquettes, fritters, fish, French fried potatoes and even onions. All that is necessary to do is to partly it perhaps once in two weeks by shaking raw white potatoes in it, bring slowly to a boil and cooking until the potatoes are brown.

Then strain the fat through cheese cloth and add it to enough fresh fat to keep your kettle about ¾ full. It is really more economical to buy about three pounds of fat in you kettle all the time. Of course, when you put cold fat into hot fat it naturally lowers the temperature and so to prevent the fat soaking, the heat is increased for a moment or two after putting in the food to be fried.

COOL FIRST.

Croquettes and cutlets, fish balls, etc., should stand at least an hour in the ice chest before being fried, over night is better. And you will have much better and quicker results by frying these croquettes at a time and repeating the operation than you will in crowding six croquettes in your kettle and cooking the fat so rapidly that it soaks into the food. Fat must be hot enough to form a crisp crust immediately.

And now to answer one question that comes to me so many times—What is the best fat for deep frying? It really is a case of many women of many minds and more depends on the method of frying than on the fat. I always have good results with lard, whereas my mother-in-law swears by half lard and half beef suet. I have also had splendid results from the vegetable shortenings and cooking oils.

And will be glad to tell you more about the different brands if you will drop me a line.

Now for a recipe or two:

JELLY DOUGHNUTS.

This is really an old New England recipe.

2 tablespoons melted shortening.
1 cup milk.
1 cup sugar.
2 eggs.
½ yeast cake.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg.
¼ cup warm water.
5 teacupfuls flour.

Scald milk, then add melted shortening. Dissolve yeast cake in warm water, add to milk when it has cooled. Then add sugar, salt and nutmeg. Mix thoroughly and stir in four teacupfuls flour. Let rise over night. In the morning knead as for bread, then roll about ¼ inch thick. Cut in rounds with a large biscuit cutter. Lay out on floured board for smooth apart to prevent sticking or pressing when they rise. Let rise until very light, three or four hours. Fry in hot fat. Keep turning them until they are risen to a round ball. When partly cool make a small opening in the side with a knife and insert teaspoonful of current jelly, float with powdered sugar.

CORN OYSTERS.

A delicious dish, unusual both in appearance and taste.

1 cup corn.
½ cup flour.
1 or 2 eggs.
Salt and pepper.

Beat the eggs until foamy, add to the corn. Mix flour, salt and pepper and add yolks to the corn. Beat well. Drop by spoonful in deep fat. Fry a golden brown. They should be made about the size of a large oyster. Makes two dozen. These may be served as a vegetable or dessert with a brown sugar syrup.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS.

A favorite recipe of Mr. William Jennings Bryan.

Batter.
2 egg yolks.
½ cup sweetened milk.
¾ cup pastry flour.
½ teaspoon salt.

Beat the yolks light. Add the milk, the flour and salt sifted together, beating it in with an egg beater. Take a Bermuda onion—any other large onion would do—cut into slices through the rings so that each slice will be made up of a large number of whole rings. Then break the rings into separate rings, dip them into the thin batter and fry them as you fry French fried potatoes. The frying looks like a small doughnut. I find that the dish is unusually relished.

FRIED CAULIFLOWER FROM ARIZONA.

Delicious and easy to prepare.

Yolks 2 eggs.
½ cup flour.
½ teaspoon salt.

Wash the cauliflower and separate the flowers. Boil until tender, then drain. To make the batter beat the egg yolk until light, add salt and flour, beat smooth with an egg beater. Dip each flower in the batter and fry in hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve hot with a white sauce.

WHITE SAUCE.

2 tablespoons fat.
2 tablespoons flour.
½ teaspoon salt.

Boil the paste over the fire. Add boiling water to obtain the desired thickness. Add juice of one lemon.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Where are the people are going to stop at a hotel for a week. Will you please tell us where to wear our hats for all three meals? Will there be a special table for us? A. H.

YOU wear your hat in either an hotel in the city or in a resort hotel for both breakfast and luncheon. At a metropolitan hotel, for instance in New York or Chicago, you would not, probably, see more than a few women wearing your hat for dinner. At a resort hotel you would not wear your hat at dinner.

(2) The head waiter in the dining room will assign seats to you when you go for your first meal. Some times he asks for the number of your rooms, since in some resort hotels the most desirable tables are reserved for the most expensive rooms—and vice versa!

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am a school girl of seventeen. A boy friend's birthday is approaching and I would appreciate very much advice on a suitable present.

Is it proper for a girl of my age to present this boy with a gift?

If so, what would you suggest?

Should the gift be sent to his home or presented to him in person?

Would a handsome gift be out of place?

CONSTANT READER.

IT is good form for you to express your felicitations and congratulations in a well-chosen book or a congratulatory telegram or a fine letter of congratulation. Any more "consequential" gift would not be in good taste. Why not choose a book in which you are quite sure he will be interested, write a friendly birthday note, enclose it in the book and have the book seller send it on "the" day?

LAST NIGHT

By THE LISTENER

What a treat it was to hear that real baseball game broadcast direct from Washington via WEEI! Thanks to the efficient co-operation between the telephone companies and the broadcasting stations, this feat is made possible.

To be sure, such a job might be attempted by "rebroadcasting," but up to the present time attempts to dispense with the wire connecting link have proven unsatisfactory in a general way.

The familiar voice of Graham McNamee came through in fine shape, as he described the plays. "Mac" must have personally enjoyed several thrills during the exciting game, for on more than one occasion I heard him say "This is some ball game,—WOW!"

There was really little incentive to fish for long distance. We had from WBBR the service from Tremont Temple, with an excellent sermon by Dr. Mussee. From WNAC we enjoyed the impressive service from Christian Science Church, with the perfect diction of the readers, and last, but not least, the tones of that wonderful organ. It would be entertaining to hear an organ recital broadcast with that particular organ some night.

'BIG BROTHER' CLUB OPENS TONIGHT

This Feature for the Kiddies to Continue All Winter

"Bob" Emery, program director of WEEI, better known to 2,000 boys and girls throughout New England as "Big Brother," will hold an introductory session of the Boston Edison Big Brother Club tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

During this special half hour program for the children, "Big Brother" will introduce many of the features he has planned for the regular meetings of the club which will be held every evening at seven o'clock.

Probably the most interesting among these surprises will be the "Big Brother Uke Band," that has mobilized for the entertainment of the members of the club. This ukelele band is composed of eight crack players recruited from local colleges and some real uke music is promised.

Every child who writes to "Big Brother," signifying a desire to affiliate with the club will receive a copy of the by-laws, a membership card bearing the seal of "Big Brother," and a small gold pin designed in the shape of the regulation electric light bulb and bearing the station call letters and the initials of the Big Brother Club.

HUB SOCIETY PRIMPS UP TO GREET PRINCE

WELCOME BEFITTING HIS RANK ASSURED

Miss Eleonora Sears Will Probably Be One of His Dancing Partners

Bostonians are sure to get a look at the Prince of Wales when he comes to visit the Bayard Tuckermans in Hamilton later this month.

This was assured when Governor Cox, on behalf of the State, put himself in the field as desirous of extending the Prince an official welcome.

TO "SEE THE SIGHTS."

It is hardly likely that the Prince will refuse the Governor's invitation, even if his acceptance of a formal welcome means little more than a hurried visit to the State House, similar to his abbreviated trip to see President Coolidge in August.

Besides the matter of official welcomes, wideawake Bostonians are apt to see the Prince among them at any time, in view of his known habit of skipping his hosts to "see the sights" now and then.

While staying at Syosset, Long Island, the Prince spiced his sojourn with several trips into New York, where he enjoyed the view from the Woolworth Tower, rode in the subways and inspected two schools and a newspaper plant.

That visit of Albert Edwards to a girls' high school in New York City has all the misses hereabouts on pins and needles, for wouldn't it be nice if he appeared unexpectedly in his tweeds and slouch hat in one of our Boston girls' schools?

SOCIETY PRIMPING UP.

North Shore and Boston society is primping up today, eager to make a good impression on the royal visitor. The young ladies perhaps have another thought in mind.

Among the pretty representative Bostonians, from a society point of view, whom the Prince will probably meet and dance with are Miss Olivia Amos, once known as Boston society's richest bachelor girl, and expert horsewoman who rides at Myopia Club and a Summer resident of Hamilton.

Others include the noted Miss Eleonora Sears, a cousin of Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman's, the Prince's hostess; Mrs. Clarence Hay, who rode with the Prince in England; Mrs. Olive Wolcott, formerly Miss Sybil Appleton; Mrs. C. S. Bird, Jr., who was Miss Julia Appleton; Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall Tuckerman, Miss Elaine Denegre and Mrs. George von L. Meyer.

HOSTESS AND MANOR WHERE PRINCE WILL STAY

At top is shown the Tuckerman manor at Hamilton, where the Prince of Wales will stay. In oval, above, appears Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., who will be the Prince's hostess. Mrs. Clarence L. Hay, who will assist in entertaining the Prince, appears above in a riding costume. Below, at extreme left, is shown the Prince in an unconventional pose.

2 HOMES ROBBED OF JEWELS

Locks Are Broken During Absence of Occupants; Valuable Booty

Burglars, apparently the same men broke the door locks of two Dorchester apartments while the occupants were away, confining the thefts to jewelry.

In the apartment of Ralph Bass, No. 116 Wellington street, the robbers obtained a $50 man's gold watch, a $75 lady's watch, with eight diamond chips, and a lady's ring set with eighteen diamond chips and valued at $300.

In the flat of Dora Sorgel, No. 127 Norfolk street, a $200 diamond ring and pendant, and a check were stolen.

ABUSIVE, DECLARES SCRAPPER

He's Famous as Wrestler, and She Weighs All of 100 Pounds

Athol, Mass., Oct. 6.—Waldek Zbyszko, famous heavyweight wrestler, showbiz Kid matrimony to the mat today. The divorce was granted from his wife, the former Senorita Amelia Diaz.

Waldek Zbyszko

Zbyszko's hammer lock in this bout was a charge of cruel and abusive treatment which he said he suffered at the hands of his wife, who is twenty-two years old, under five feet in height and weighs 100 pounds. Zbyszko, "the Polish wrestler," is 24 years old and is rated as one of the world's strongest men.

His pretty wife, a native of Spain, was married to him in Havana in 1921. He brought her to his native home in Old Orchard, where they have lived since.

BOUNDARY BILL IS PUT BEFORE DAIL EIREANN

ZR-3 MAY TAKE OFF ON ATLANTIC TRIP THURSDAY

Washington, Oct. 6.—The German built airship ZR-3 may take off on her transatlantic flight to the United States Thursday, the Navy Department was informed today. The dispatch added, however, that "prediction is not probable prior to Saturday, October 11."

IMOGENE HAS 2 NEW BLACK EYES

London, Oct. 6.—Imogene Wilson, ex-Follies beauty, who trailed Frank Tinney across the Atlantic to London Town, is nursing another pair of black eyes.

"There ain't no Follies girl I can't lick," shouted Tinney.

"There are stars in my eyes—Frank didn't give me these," insists the beautiful Imogene.

It may be a pair of stars in her eyes, as Imogene says, but when a representative of Universal Service surveyed the beauty in Tinney's apartment there was no visible evidence of any stars. Each badly discolored optic was in the condition that one gets after a mean fight with a mealy flat such as Tinney said he possesses.

The former Follies beauty is an adept at the art of make-up and so skillfully has she camouflaged her disabled optics that they appear to be normal at a distance of a few feet.

HOLD CHINESE IN 'PEEPING TOM' CASE

While the shirts and collars remained to soak and the sizzling iron was a slab of cold and dormant metal, Quan Quong You, Chinese laundryman of Auburndale, went into Newton court today on Peeping Tom and assault charges.

As spectators, his two fellow Chinese workers in the laundry went along too. The case was continued until Saturday and You was held in $1,000.

You was captured in the laundry, after he is alleged to have been an interested spectator at the window of Mrs. Arthur J. Robie of No. 63 Bourne street, Auburndale.

Mrs. Robie's husband seized upon the spectator, but a kick in Robie's stomach forced him to relinquish his hold. On Robie's description, the Chinese, who is twenty-two, was arrested in the laundry at No. 333 Auburn street, Auburndale.

He is also charged with hugging fourteen-year-old Elinor Wales of Auburn street, who identified him today in court.

MANY TO OBSERVE "WORLD PEACE DAY"

Washington, Oct. 6.—Reports received from pastors and communities in the call of the Federal Council of Churches for observance of Armistice Day, November 11, as "mobilization day for world justice and world peace," indicate wide cooperation in the movement. It was announced today by Dr. Sidney L. Gulick.

Entire communities will take part in the observance, he said, and city church federations are making extensive plans to give it the significance and meaning sought.

WOMAN APPEARS IN HUNT FOR FUGITIVE

New York, Oct. 6.—A woman appeared in the background of the George R. Christian $1,500,000 confiscation case today. It is reported she figured in the looting of the safety of the brokerage house of Fox & Heaton, of which Christian was a partner. The broker frequently was seen in the company of a young and fashionably dressed woman. At Christmas he bought $3,000 worth of diamonds and the police say that Christian did not get the gems.

U. S. WOMAN IS THROWN IN CELL IN CHINA

Hong Kong, Oct. 6 (A.P.)—Mrs. Harvey Decker, an American and wife of the manager of the Canton City Transportation Company, was subjected to nearly hardship, hardline and jeering and finally to detention in a police station cell by twenty Chinese policemen, according to word received here today.

Mrs. Decker, now up in delicate health, had gone to the police station in connection with a demand for payment of a police tax alleged to be due from her husband on the ground that he is engaged in business in Canton.

Mrs. Decker was resisting that she and her husband should be exempt from the police tax because the Canton City Transportation Company is a foreign company, when some of the police thrust a revolver against her side, dragged her out of her motor car and carried her into a barred cell.

Mrs. Decker endeavored to communicate with the American Consul General, but was prevented by police officials until after nearly two hours her husband invoked the assistance of the American Consul, who went to the police station and obtained her release.

FIGHTING SPIRIT OF SENATORS LIKELY TO GIVE THEM SERIES

MARBERRY PICKED TO PITCH

By NICK FLATLEY

New York, Oct. 6.—The annual homerun convention started a three-day session at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. After that the boys will go back to the Capitol, unless one team or the other collects three games in a row here, which seems entirely out of the question. For this series, with two games tucked away, appears to be as tight a proposition as ever was staged by the champions of a couple leagues.

The brand of ball displayed by the Senators in their second game shifted Wall street betting odds. The Senators were the favorites to win today's game, odds of 6-5 being offered. They also were 11-10 favorites in Wall Street to win the series.

The Giants look like the better ball club, but the Senators seem to have the confidence and kick needed to collect the big end of it. Whether the edge in class will overcome the fighting desire is the only mystery remaining in this series.

A loss of ifs, ways and buts have been cleared up already. First and foremost, it has been established that the Giant players don't even remember that there was a season. Then, the National League has discovered that the Senators are not soft for southpaw pitching. Further it has been disclosed that the Washington club has recovered entirely from the doldrums that made it seem bushy in the last series in Boston.

Also, it might be remarked, there isn't a bit of fun resemblance to the O'Connell incident. The crowds in Washington were wildly partisan, of course, but eminently decent. They gave the Giants their need of applause when the same was deserved, which was very frequently in the course of the snappiest series game ever played.

On the face of things, this series will add along to the limit. Walter Johnson, the great Senator hope, was beaten, but Zeb Zachary rose to his occasion and defeated Bentley, considered a giant ace. Art Nehf will come back shortly for the McGraws, while the great Walter will do the same thing for Harris.

PITCHING SUPERB.

McQuillan and Marberry, two of the best right-handers of a good pitching year, were scheduled to go to the hill today. That should furnish another real pitching battle. Both clubs have had fine pitching thus far, though both staffs were supposed to be worn down before the thing started. The same kind of flinging will probably be in evidence until one team cracks. From where we perch, this series greatly resembles the league championship of 1921, when the Giants carved out the pennant. Both clubs have had fine pitching, but they didn't have a thing on the Senators. Joe Judge, first man up, was in the hole, one ball and two strikes. But he refused to go after a couple of close ones. So he walked. Then on the first pitch, dropped down a perfect sacrifice bunt. Peck stepped into the breach and fielded a hurling single to left and the ball game was over.

NoNody could write at this race without paying tribute to Bucky Harris. He has come a wonder in the field and a bear at the bat in the pinches. He tied up the game, then came with a wallop. And he won the Sunday tilt. Which is a very good average in two pastimes. The players claim he is the best shortstop in the league, and he is proving up that way.

Both clubs have now come from behind and tied up games that seemed hopelessly lost. The Giants were lucky to win Saturday. The Senators were fortunate to get away with yesterday's joust. That's how close it is. Not even Jack Conway could pick a winner in this series. We thought the Senators would win when it started, and we still think so. The club didn't seem to have real class during the campaign, but it has collected plenty for this hectic occasion.

The Senators with Johnson to shoot back tomorrow, if need be, and Marberry ready today, are much more likely to get the best of the pitching argument. And that margin will bring the victory.

CLOUDY AND MILD FOR TODAY'S CONTEST

New York, Oct. 6.—Cloudiness and mild temperature are the conditions under which the Giants and Senators will meet in the third game of the world series today, according to the weather man's predictions.

Brandt to Join Seattle

Pitcher Ed Brandt, who was recently prevented by Seattle from accepting a contract with the Boston Nationals, has agreed to report to Seattle, on whose suspended list he has been for some time.

HARRIS CROSSING PLATE AFTER HOME RUN

DUDLEY HARRIS, MANAGER OF THE SENATORS, DOING A BABE RUTH IN THE FIFTH INNING OF THE SECOND WORLD SERIES GAME (International Newsreel Photo.)

RIVAL SKIPPERS RELISH FIGHT TEAMS SHOW

Washington, Oct. 6 (Universal)—Manager Stanley Harris of the Washington Senators said after the game:

"Some battle, eh? Two hot ones Monday and yesterday. I expected a rough fight in this series, but we leave for New York with great confidence. We seem to be pretty well matched and our club is the sort that likes this kind of stuff.

Manager John McGraw of the Giants said:

"I got a real kick out of today's fine game, though we lost. The Giants showed they are fighters—I guess everybody knew this. The Washington club rose to fine heights and made a great fight in both games."

N club ever hit the ball harder than the Giants did yesterday, but the remarkable defense made it null and void and gave Zachary a victory when on a similar occasion, he might have been keyed to the first chapter. He came mighty close to that, by the way.

The first two Giants hit safely—good solid clumps. Ross Young, a dangerous batsman in both games, tried to bunt and popped out. Kelly defeated a slow roller to Harris. The bases were filled with one out. Monte Pfyle, a pinch hitter, batted for Ellazer, that went through so rapidly that it dazzled the audience. After that the big southpaw was hauled out of more bother than a Swiss cheese owns. He was finally bombarded off the peak in the ninth, when the same method Gregg adopted him for two runs. Then Marberry came in and pitched just three balls fanning Jackson.

PECK HERO IN FINCH.

The Giants carved undefeated honor and fight in that inning, but they didn't have a thing on the Senators. Joe Judge, first man up, was in the hole, one ball and two strikes. But he refused to go after a couple of close ones. So he walked. Then on the first pitch, dropped down a perfect sacrifice bunt. Peck stepped into the breach and fielded a hurling single to left and the ball game was over.

FRISCH FEARED PECK WOULD CRAB GAME

By FRANK FRISCH

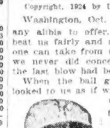
Captain of the New York Giants

(Copyright, 1924 by Universal Service.)

Washington, Oct. 6.—We haven't any alibis to offer. The Senators beat us fairly and squarely but no one can take from us the fact that we never did concede defeat until the last blow had been struck.

When the ball game started. It looked to us as if we were going to treat ourselves to a whole mess of hits and enough runs to win three ball games. Zachary looked easy. We banged him for two hits and filled the bases. Then, when he seemed as if we surely would score anywhere from one to three runs, Bluege executed a great double play on Marberry's drive—and that ended the festival for us for a time.

Zachary got along rather nicely after that—until the ninth. But old Zach has a great infield to thank for that. The sensational quartet seemed to consist of about 24 men this afternoon and no matter where we hit the ball one of the Washington infielders grabbed it and killed us off.



Frank Frisch

Three times after the first inning we made rallies. Once in the fourth, a double play stopped us. It was the same story in the seventh when we scored once and were halted by another double killing.

In the ninth, after a feverish effort to connect with Zachary and drive the ball through that infield, we finally succeeded. The fighting spirit of the Giants asserted itself in that final session and we pushed over two runs—for a tie.

And then came the blow-off.

When the Senators got a man on second in their part of the ninth and old "Ralph" Peckinpaugh came up to the plate, things looked good for us. I know that man Peckinpaugh and I regard him as one of the greatest pinch hitters in baseball. He always does his greatest work and rises to his mightiest heights in an emergency.

I felt if we could get him out of the way, we would go into extra innings. But Peck grabbed one of Jack Bentley's curve balls, hit it through short with terrific force—and there went the ball game.

Everything is all even on the series now—but today will be another story. For we will be playing on our ball park today, Tuesday and Wednesday, and before a home town crowd. That always makes some difference.

CANNONBALL MARTIN IN BOUT WITH WOLGAST

By JACK CONWAY.

CANNONBALL MARTIN of New York, who has won fifty-six bouts within the rays of the flickering lights of Gay Broadway, will make his Boston bow tonight when he will tackle Bobby Wolgast of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout at the Commercial A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building.

Those gentlemen who have seen Martin toss around his hefty punches with reckless abandon are almost unanimous in declaring he is the best looking unattached middleweight in the well known universe. They don't even draw lines on Abe Attell Goldstein who rules the class made famous by Pete Herman, Jimmy Walsh, Al Delmont, Johnny Coulon, Kid Williams and other fast steppers.

As a champion, Goldstein is considered very much of a frost. In his last New York appearances he only drew a $6,000 gate, which was quite a sock at Abe's pride, as he is one of the neighbor's children over in dear old Gotham.

Meanwhile, Martin has been packing them in at the New York footie clubs. Tex Rickard, financially speaking, loves Cannonball like a brother. Rickard has used Martin more than any other member of the cauliflower industry in tussles at the Garden.

Tonight will be the first time that Cannonball has tossed his shells other than in New York rings. As the leading contender for the bantamweight crown, he considered it wise to let the world see just how good he is. Perhaps he is stealing a page from the book of the political spellbinders.

* * *

WOLGAST has done his stuff here before. He tossed walloping at Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion. He proved he is an aggressive, two-handed puncher.

Wolgast will have more of an opportunity to work at his trade against a wide-open socker like Cannonball.

Martin, on his record, is the selection of the smart money, which is to say "I told you so" after a fistic frolic.

* * *

THERELL be a prelim card with plenty of pepper. Johnny Cuthbert of England rattles Tommy Murray of Philadelphia. Walter Ketchel mixes with Cyclone Harvin while Mickey Landers will oppose Spike Hennessey. All three bouts are listed for eight frames.

* * *

FRANK MOODY, English middleweight, has gone to Wanseah where he will finish his training for his ten-round bout with Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, which will be staged by the Suffolk A. A. at Mechanics building on Friday night. Mostly like Wilson has beaten Jock Malone in this city. The Englishman knows he will stop Wilson as he knocked Lou Mogash out of the picture.

ST. ALPHONSUS DRAWS WITH DORCHESTER TEAM

The St. Alphonsus Association football team played a scoreless tie with the Dorchester Town team. The referee's whistle ended the game just as the Saints reached the Dorchester seven-yard line. The same teams play next Sunday.

Fans Ride Ty Cobb

Washington, Oct. 6.—Ty Cobb, a syndicate expert for the series, came in for an awful riding by the fans. Sitting in the rear of the press box in the upper stand, he was simply dumfounded when the crowd picked him out for a target, the razzing being opened by the mob after Goslin had walked out his fine home run. In the seventh the crowd yelled at him to stand up when the Senators went to bat, but Ty wouldn't. He looked as mad as a hornet. He didn't relish the criticism.

W. & J. ELEVEN AT WORK FOR LAFAYETTE GAME

Washington, Pa., Oct. 6.—Head Coach David C. Morrow and Backfield Coach Allie C. Miller are busy building up their team for the opening early-season contests on the Washington and Jefferson College schedule, those with Carnegie Tech here October 18, and Lafayette in New York, October 25, at the Yankee Stadium.

Previous to these struggles, Washington and Jefferson will meet Bethany here today and Grove City College October 11.

Tufts Prepares for Bates

Bates will act as host to the invading Tufts eleven next Saturday at Lewiston, Me. Eddie Casey's brigade played the Connecticut Aggies to a scoreless tie in the opening game Saturday. Poor generalship was the cause of the deadlock.

PECK THRILLED BY HIT THAT WON GAME

By ROGER PECKINPAUGH

Captain of the Washington Senators

(Copyright, 1924, by Universal Service.)

Washington, Oct. 6.—I've lived a lot of thrills in my life and know a lot of happy moments. But I've lived none nor known any joy greater than came to me when I was able to reach one of Jack Bentley's twisters and bust up the second ball game.

Roger Peckinpaugh

When I saw that old horse hide whistling safely through the infield and saw Joe Judge making a wild and successful dash for home with the winning run in the ninth—well, that was the glad stuff.

The Senators have proved in the two games that they are real World Series warriors. When we went into our first inning lead, the Giants began the desperate effort to catch up with us and then to pass us. They made a great rally in the fourth, another in the seventh and then came through with two runs and a tie in the ninth.

But we beat them in the end because, in moments when Zachary was in trouble, our boys rallied with superb defensive work and pulled Zach clear. In the ninth, when Zach faltered, we called on "old reliable" Fred Marberry, and Fred delivered like the marvelous pinch hitter he has been all through 1924.

Our victory gives us unfaltering confidence as regards winning the series. We got by with Zachary. I think George Mogridge and his slow ball will bother the Giants. And then we can come back with Walter Johnson, who had all the hard luck in the world Saturday—but will have another kind when he faces the Giants again.

N. S. GIRL MAKES BOSTON LIGHT SWIM

Munching on bananas for nourishment, Miss Eva Morrison, 19-year-old Nova Scotian swimmer, stroked her way from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light, a distance of 12 miles, in seven and a half hours, and at the end of her grueling journey helped the tired oarsmen in the conching boat to haul the chief out of water.

Clad only in a scanty swimming suit and a thick layer of waterproof grease, Miss Morrison dove from the Charlestown bridge at 2 a. m. and started in pitch darkness on her try for Boston Light. She was undaunted by the fact that she had failed a week before to gain the Light.

Boston University varsity eleven rested today after its bruising battle with Maine. The boys came through the game in fine condition and Coach Whalen hopes to have all his first string men in good condition when they meet Holy Cross at Worcester, Saturday.

The strength of the B. U. line was manifested in Saturday's game and Whalen will devote his work to developing his backfield, giving them several new plays for the Holy Cross game, and paying particular stress on the open game.

MARBERRY WINS WORLD'S SERIES FAME ON 3 PITCHED BALLS

JACKSON CANNED IN PINCH

BY THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY

[illegible] Oct. 6 (Universal—[illegible] Edgar Jackson [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Washington senators won from [illegible] New York Giants and [illegible] the championship honors down [illegible] by World's Series [illegible] Roger Peckinpaugh, who [illegible] reputation of being [illegible] pinch hitter, shot out a double to score Joe Judge with the [illegible] run in the ninth, and Saturday [illegible] in the ninth to bring in [illegible] Bridges with the tieing run of that 12-inning ticket.

The game was full of pearls of [illegible] Bluege, the Senators' [illegible] baseman, revealed most remarkable judgment in two [illegible] after clear double plays, with a [illegible] running home from third. In the first inning, after Tom Zachary had gotten off to an appalling [illegible] start by shot the ball to complete a double play to end the inning just as Freddy Lindstrom crossed the plate. He allowed George Kelly to score the Giants' first run in the seventh in order to make two outs and remove the Giants from threatening positions and possibly other runs, there being none out at the time.

Bluege, Harris and Judge handled three double plays in lightning fashion. Peck also showed a great pair of paws in the field.

Zachary allowed only six hits in eight and two-thirds innings and had the sympathy of all when with drawn and Fred Marberry was sent in after the Giants had tied the score in the ninth with two runs on two hits. Bentley also allowed but six hits, but two of them were homers by Goslin and Harris, and Zachary had the edge, though inclined to get in the hole at times.

Marberry threw only three balls—[illegible] strikes all—to Jackson for the [illegible] final out in the ninth. It was this husky's fifty-first appearance in a game this season, and he saved the situation as he had so frequently all year.

French a injured finger didn't seem to bother him the slightest. Peck, if any, could have duplicated his scoring from first by inches in a diving slide under Ruel when Kelly angled to right in the ninth and Rice and Harris collaborated in the brilliant relay.

We doubt if Groh, out with a twisted knee, could have done better at third than the 19-year-old Freddy Lindstrom.

Moe took a Brodie Saturday. He picked Nicholas for a kick in the shins and got one himself. However, he can't have winners every day, but he is going to take a shot at one today that suggests recollections of the time he picked eight winners in a row. Wild Bull O'Connor is riding with him. B. R. to date $22,185.21.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

PERU, that mysterious country first conquered by the gallant Spaniard Pizarro, hundreds of years ago, the land of the forgotten Incas, is to a certain extent still an unknown country.

Although Peru has progressed far in the last few centuries and has contributed much in the past to the scientific and historical worlds, yet, today, man knows comparatively little about this interesting land, and has only a hazy idea of the tremendous amount of mineral wealth as yet undiscovered and buried deep under the protecting peaks of the Andes Mountains.

Silver mines are scattered all over the country. They are said to contain fabulous sums of silver ore and are worked by the Peruvian Indians, who usually live within a few hundred feet of the particular mine in which they may be employed.

The huts of these Indian miners are crude and unique affairs, built of old wood and stone, and having no doors or windows by which to enter. An opening in the side or front of the dwelling, just large enough for a man to squeeze himself through, serves as a door or window for the one room. Indeed, if a man is fortunate enough to have a door on his hut he is considered a person of prominence.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

DIZZINESS and rheumatism—a formidable pair!

Aching joints, bones and muscles—how a damp house twists the stinging joints into knots of pain!

Our climate, with its sudden heat and cool, damp and rainy weather, makes a fit setting for what is still one of the major ills of mankind.

A lame shoulder or neck, "a little attack of lumbago"—how prevalent they are, and yet few have ever stopped to realize their enormous economic cost, in disabled workers.

Under the general title of rheumatism come almost any group of symptoms which include pain in the muscles and joints. It may be gout, lumbago or inflammation, but conditions are so poorly defined that they are frequently miscalled.

In a recent study of rheumatic diseases undertaken by Great Britain's Ministry of Health, it was found that nearly 10,000 in the industrial centres of England and Wales were suffering from rheumatic conditions which incapacitated them at various times.

Machinists, general laborers, teamsters, miners, quarry workers, carpenters, clerks and typists, in the order named, were found most subject to these diseases. Only three women had gout. Lumbago and sciatic neuritis were the most common forms of this type of disease.

Dampness of living quarters, focal infections, such as infected teeth and tonsils, and improper diet were found to be the most important predisposing factors.

At least fifty per cent. of the rheumatic patients had suppurating tonsils or other septic conditions of the throat, cervices and infected stumps of teeth also made up a goodly percentage of those acutely ill.

These facts emphasize the importance of having teeth and tonsils looked at when there are rheumatic symptoms. The early removal of these sources of infection means the difference between checking the disease and becoming its victim.

Diet means a lot in rheumatism, but meats and alcohol have no place in the food of the rheumatic. Since other bodily conditions may enter into an individual case, it is better to go to your doctor or a clinic before attempting to outline your own diet.

Various treatments with sun and electricity are doing much for the rheumatic sufferer, in the hands of a competent physician.

Dr. Mahoney.

POLL OF BALL FANS FAVOR COOLIDGE

less than the 3,314 cast for Davis and La Follette.

Mr. Coolidge's lead over John W. Davis is 1,506.

Mr. Davis is a mere 100 votes better off than La Follette.

In detail:

Coolidge	3,313
Davis	1,807
La Follette	1,707

Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	260
Republicans to Davis	297
Democrats for La Follette	655
Republicans for La Follette	619
Others for La Follette	403

The largest batch of votes turned in for the Eleventh Day of this interesting and informative investigation was collected in the great crowd in front of the Boston American score-board. Coolidge, 141; La Follette, 106; Davis, 76.

Medford's poll represents a tour of Salem street places of business and a stand in Medford square. The Everett vote was picked up on Main street.

In Harvard Square, a man whose appearance suggested that he may be a Harvard instructor, marked his ballot for Davis and, as he handed it to the reporter, said, "One of the most brilliant minds in the country, today."

Two La Follette votes in Cambridge—the poll was taken in Harvard and Central squares—came from women. One will cast her first vote four weeks from tomorrow. The other was a finely dressed woman of middle age.

"I am for La Follette," the latter said, "because of his campaign speeches and his record as a Senator."

The poll for the Eleventh Day:

Total number of votes	678
Coolidge, Rep.	313
La Follette, Prog.	193
Davis, Dem.	172
Coolidge over La Follette	120
But trailing both by	72
Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	17
Republicans to Davis	37
Democrats for La Follette	36
Republicans for La Follette	60
Others for La Follette	97

The descriptive word "others" usually covers first voters, persons who failed to vote four years ago, Socialists, etc. On this occasion, it may also include numbers of men who were too busy watching the story of Washington and the Giants to do more than mark their 1924 preference, disregarding the request for their vote in 1920.

Coolidge's lead over La Follette, 2,070.
Coolidge's lead over Davis, 68,719.

Today's "At Large" vote represents canvass which began among the employes of the Dollar Line in South Boston, included the civilian employes of the Depot Quartermaster, U. S. A., and wound up on Cambridge and Hancock streets, in the West End.

Nashua Is Strong for La Follette

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 6.—Like Manchester, this second city of New Hampshire appears to be more or less a hot-bed of La Follette sentiment.

The following poll represents the work of an hour on both sides of Main street, including a canvass of the crowd in front of the Nashua Telegraph's score-board:

La Follette	38
Coolidge	32
Davis	11
Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	1
Republicans to Davis	1
Democrats for La Follette	14
Republicans for La Follette	1
Others for La Follette	23

Democratic leaders admit the strength of La Follette and the weakness of Davis, but say the situation will not affect the fight for the Governorship.

DAVIS RUNNING WAY BEHIND IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 6.—The outstanding features of a three-day poll in the New Hampshire metropolis by reporters of the Boston American are the strength of La Follette, and the lamentable weakness of John W. Davis. On the fact of the figures it is perfectly absurd to argue that the Democrats have any chance whatever to capture the electoral votes of New Hampshire.

The outlook for the Democratic State ticket is, of course, another story.

The third day of the local poll was a La Follette day, largely because of the employes of one of the biggest cigar factories in the East. Of 122 cigarmakers interviewed—the plant employs more than a thousand—not a single one marked a ballot for John W. Davis. The score was: Coolidge, 6; La Follette, 116. Several voted for Debs in 1920.

The poll for the third day in Manchester:

Total vote	266
La Follette	151
Coolidge	90
Davis	15
Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	2
Republicans to Davis	3
Democrats for La Follette	10
Republicans for La Follette	17
Others for La Follette	65

In addition to a careful canvass of the cigarmakers, at once the best paid workers in the city and thought out the textile collapse the most substantial prop of the community, the canvassers toured the business parts of Manchester, Hanover and Concord streets.

Total score for Manchester: La Follette, 234; Coolidge, 256; Davis, 132.

DAWES TO EXTEND TOUR TO KANSAS AND KENTUCKY

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Extension of the midwestern speaking tour which Charles Gates Dawes, Republican vice-presidential nominee, will begin early tomorrow, will include Kansas.

Poison Drink Fatal

Henry Long, a salesman of Commonwealth avenue, Allston, died at the City Hospital today, having been taken there from the Allston playground. The police say he admitted taking Lichloride of mercury tablets.

COOLIDGE HOLDS OWN IN RHODE ISLAND

Providence, R. I., Oct. 6.—The story told by the 1,537 ballots cast up to date in the Boston American's straw ballot in this city is exactly like revealed by the Presidential Preference Poll in Greater Boston, namely that President Coolidge is about as strong as both his opponents put together.

This is the Providence record up to date:

Total vote	1,537
Coolidge	761
Davis	421
La Follette	366
Coolidge over Davis	343
Coolidge trailing both by	23
Shift of Democrats to Coolidge	21
Republicans to Davis	110
Democrats for La Follette	132
Republicans for La Follette	155
Others for La Follette	29

On this third day of the poll in Providence the vote was: Coolidge, 467; Davis, 268; La Follette, 237.

GILLETT WITH COOLIDGES ON LONG WEEK-END CRUISE

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Coolidge went to his desk today refreshed by a week-end cruise on the presidential yacht Mayflower. The trip, on which the President and Mrs. Coolidge were accompanied by a few intimate friends, including Speaker Gillett, was extended to a run of about twenty miles outside the Virginia capes.

DAVIS TO CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK STATE

New York, Oct. 6.—John W. Davis' campaign for the Presidency will be pushed in New York State exclusively during this week, it was decided by the Democratic strategy board here.

Speaking in five of the principal cities in the State, Davis will combine his own plea for the Presidency with an endorsement of Governor Al Smith, Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

ROXBURY MAN ACCUSED OF SETTING ROOM AFIRE

Louis P. Gill of Washington street, Roxbury, was in Roxbury court today charged with arson. He pleaded not guilty and after an examination was held for the grand jury. According to the police, a fire was discovered in a closet of Gill's room.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Within a month the Presidential election will be over and the much-discussed German government loan will be out of the way.

Meanwhile our farmers doubtless will continue to sell large quantities of their products at most satisfactory prices. The wheat crop alone is now estimated at $1,000,000,000, the cotton crop at about $1,800,000,000, and the year's total farm production at $17,000,000,000, not far from twice the 1913 total. Cotton, it is true, is not, like the principal grains, selling at the highest prices in recent years, but quotations ranging from 25 to 26½ cents per pound should not, to say the least, retard the South's broad forward movement.

How are general business conditions likely to be next month in view of the foregoing?

They should be better.

* * *

Why do we still hear more or less complaint about the volume of business being done? The right answer to this question might explain much.

May it not be that wrong comparisons are constantly being made? Are not too many business concerns measuring their present volume of business not with what they used to do in normal years, but with the wholly abnormal activity they experienced during the war inflation? They talk about running far below maximum capacity. But what is this "maximum capacity"? In most instances it is excess capacity called into being by the tremendous war boom.

* * *

The United States is doing more business today than it ever did in any year not affected by war-bred inflation.

* * *

Our railroad statistics, alone would be sufficient to demonstrate this, for assuredly the record-breaking volume of merchandise now being carried is not being piled in warehouses for far-distant use. Everyone agrees that ordering is still being done only for immediate and nearby requirements.

The number of workmen enjoying employment at high wages is greater today than it ever was, with the possible exception of the peak of the war boom. And certain it is that the purchasing power of America's total pay envelope is substantially greater today than it was during the war.

* * *

A few other developments worth noting:

September's commercial failures were the lightest of any month this year.

The general price level advanced about 1½ per cent. last month.

The American Woolen Company has announced additional price advances.

Leading automobile manufacturers are enlarging their working forces.

Hides and leather are doing better and wool continues in keen demand.

The rubber industry has taken on a new lease of life.

The volume of newspaper and magazine advertising now appearing is unusually large.

The number of stockholders in large corporations is growing.

Savings bank deposits have just reached a new maximum.

* * *

Of course, there are retarding influences—and it is doubtless well that this is so.

Over production of oil continues and refiners are now slashing prices, a step which would probably have profound healthy results if it had been taken long ago. Cotton manufacturers are still working only part time. Stocks and bonds have declined that they can go down as well as up. Admittedly the showing made by La Follette is causing concern in high financial and industrial circles. An "election scare" may arise some time this month.

* * *

The principal causes of hesitancy, however, promise to be shortly removed.

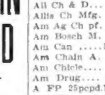
BUILDING BOOM CONTINUES IN NEW ENGLAND

By FRANK H. MELOON.
Financial Editor.

During the past week New England business in general has registered further improvement that has been most marked in basic industries.

Sentiment has been more cheerful, especially in the textiles, where more mills have gone on full or increased time. Notable is the contract secured by the American Woolen Company that means full operations extending into 1925.

That building continues to run high is shown by the fact that the figures of new construction for the last reported week are over $9,000,000, setting a record for the like week in a quarter of a century.



The objection [illegible] offered that this would not appear important if the differences in prices or labor and building material were taken into account is not of consequence. The figure for 1911, for example, was barely over a lone million dollars, and neither wages nor materials have jumped anywhere near nine times the 1911 figures.

Sugar stocks and bonds have always been favorites with New Englanders since the days when Boston was the Indies was one of our leading imports. Readers will therefore be interested in what President Eric A. Kelley of the American Sugar Refining Company has to say.

"A race for the sugar markets of the world is inevitable—to whom will the ultimate prize go? This is a question that vitally affects Cuban producers and United States refiners. It is a problem that is the direct outgrowth of the World War. It is a problem that we have kept constantly before the sugar industry since the war days," states Mr. Kelley.

"The expansion of Cuba's sugar industry during the World War in response to the demands of the Allies, without treaty agreements for post-war markets, has left the island Republic with the problem of finding a market for its increased production. Cuba is faced with the necessity, not only of holding the emergency war markets, but of developing new markets. Failing, it would maintain present production.

"The United States sugar refining industry, with a total excess refining capacity of 2,400,000 tons, is in a specially fortunate position to be of service to the producers of Cuba in making a market for their raw sugar product. These two groups, co-operating in entirely legal ways, can build up forcing sugar markets under the encouragement of their respective governments."

The advances in grain and hop prices since 1923 have made a sparkling prosperity for a considerable portion of the agricultural population, increasing its buying power, but this is far more true of the West than of New England. Potatoes retailing in Boston for 75 cents a bushel interest the New England farmer more than grain prices.

The shoe industry is more active. Dealers' stocks have been reduced, which may spell further prosperity to begin with the manufacturer. Hide, leather and wool markets continue firm. The rubber trade feels improvements.

Ease in money continues.

EDISON MEETING PUT OFF UNTIL OCT. 20

Adjourned meeting of stockholders of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston to act on the proposed 20 per cent. increase in capital stock was held this noon. As the Department of Public Utilities has not yet acted on the company's application to increase its stock, the stockholders' meeting was again adjourned to October 20.

TRADING DULL IN NEW YORK MARKET

Indications that negotiations for the German loan will be completed next week, and the belief of many speculators that its offering will be preceded by a strong market, probably accounted for the rather extensive buying of stocks, in which a large short interest is supposed to exist.

Buying, in general, was of a more selective character than in some recent sessions with interest in specialties practically confined to those in which pools are believed to be operating.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore advanced 1 and Baldwin, American Sugar Refining, Corn Products, Utah Copper and Republican Steel moved up 1 to 2½ points.

Merchandising issues also displayed good group strength with Associated Dry Goods, Simmons Company, Montgomery Ward and Hartman Corporation as the early leaders. Call money renewed at 2½ per cent.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange Pacific Mills jumped 3⅞, Hood Rubber was 3 points higher. Aside from these issues, changes were nearly evenly mixed and confined to mere fractions.

be saved in a way that agitated this hardened banker, then a small boy in Brooklyn.

SOMETHING new in deception comes from Nowata, Okla. Georgia Fields, fourteen-year-old girl in the choir of the Rev. Joseph E. Yeats, says she was married to Yeats, he himself performing the ceremony and assuring her it was all right, although she was already married. The clergyman, forty years old, is in jail.

Mother Eve may have deceived poor man in the first instance, but poor man has made up for it.

YOUNG MAN, do you want to be rich and useful? Learn something about electricity and try to invent a light storage battery. Electricity, which in itself weighs nothing, will not always be carried about stored in heavy coal, weighing as much as the vehicle that the electricity propels.

DON'T BE discouraged by the fact that you are not an electrical engineer, or a scientist. Sometimes knowing too much about a thing prevents seeing its possibilities clearly.

The man who invented the sewing machine couldn't sew. His whole idea was putting the needle's "eye" at the point of the needle instead of at the other end. An expert seamstress would have said: "That's nonsense."

SEIBOLD SAYS New Hampshire will give Coolidge 35,000 majority. Those collecting opinions should save this one. Seibold studies politics and usually knows.

Betting on La Follette in Wall Street was 3 against 6. Now it is 2 against 8, which means that the gamblers think that La Follette's chances have fallen off one-third. Some others do not think so. La Follette is stronger today than at any time, thanks to the California court decision.

Winning Smile

IRENE BORDONI.

She wears the gowns and scatters the smiles that make "Little Miss Bluebeard" at the Tremont almost too good to be true.

EDUCATION IS CHURCH IDEAL, SAYS PASTOR

The educational work of the church, especially with the children in the Sunday School is its first ideal, according to Rev. Dr. Charles Talmage, pastor of the First Church, Charlestown.

This was the beginning of a series of sermons on the modern methods of a successful church.

"We believe," he said, "that the natural instinct of play should be directed in well organized ways and that all the aspects for the best social life for our young people should be provided for by the successful church of today.

"We seek to have weekly playtimes along with musical instruction for our vested choruses of boys and girls, but no weekly dances. We are emphatically the friends of our young people and children for well-ordered play and social life along with our religious education for them.

"We expect in our work in this church to make the first things first and to keep the balance in all our ideals of service in every department, both for adults and young people.

"With Bishop Hughes and ex-President Murlin of Boston University we propose to give fair recognition to the girls in our colleges, our churches and our homes here and now in their own age and generation.

"Our colleges are teaching the religious values of the Bible as never before. They are seeking to have the young people take a deep interest in presenting Bible stories as well as proper religious plays giving instruction in the most attractive way.

"The churches need publicity and the editors of our great newspapers are truly interested in our churches and they wish to be helpful."

MISS KATHRYN DOLAN BRIDE IN ROSLINDALE

Miss Kathryn L. Dolan, daughter of Deputy Chief and Mrs. Joseph A. Dolan of No. 18 Tyndale street, Roslindale, was married today to Harry A. Gallagher of Putnam street, Quincy. The wedding took place at the Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, with a nuptial high mass. The Rev. Eugene Twomey officiated. Miss Mabel Dolan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. James Gallagher, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were John and William Gallagher, Joseph Dolan and Frank Casey. Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for Atlantic City, Washington and Philadelphia.

'CHICKIE' TEA APRONS ARE READY SOON

Today is the day that Boston American readers who like to look upon their tea when it is red, are given opportunity to secure for the first time, the newest tea table "mode"—the Chickie Tea Apron.

There are aprons and aprons and there are tea aprons and tea aprons. The Chickie Tea Apron, however, is the apron of them all.

Two coupons, clipped from the Boston American of two consecutive dates, together with forty-nine cents—and you have a Chickie Tea Apron, a garment you will be proud of and one that not only will protect your most lovely gowns, but also will enhance their beauty.

The first coupon will be printed in Wednesday editions of the Boston American.

Of finest rubber, light but strong, in two shades—emerald green and light red, this newest Boston American surprise for its women readers is something that every woman will want.

The green apron, of course, is for blondes and titians, while the red is for brunettes. The green apron is attractively completed with a cream-colored ruffle of rubber around the edge and has a ruffled rubber pocket that comes in handy at times.

The red apron, also has a ruffle around its edge and a ruffled rubber pocket.

Both aprons have been manufactured especially for the Boston American and its thousands of readers, so now they are passed along to you.

Clip the coupons—and have a cup of tea!

Labor Divides

Capital Stands United

A boyhood friend and schoolmate of Ramsay MacDonald built up a big fortune for himself while MacDonald worked his way through the Labor Party and became Prime Minister of the British empire. The friend gave MacDonald an automobile, and because MacDonald couldn't afford to keep it up, he gave him sufficient money to support it.

Over here police captains and minor officials of many big cities have automobiles paid for by the public. In England they take MacDonald's automobile most seriously. It is even suggested that jokes and jibes on the fact that a rich man paid for the Labor Premier's tires and gasoline may cause the defeat of the Labor Party.

A bitter fight against MacDonald is raging within the ranks of labor, the extreme radicals attacking and denouncing him, much to the delight of Tories in England and here in America.

Says the gentleman at the top: "In the long run we can always rule the crowd, because they ALWAYS FIGHT among themselves." It's true, and has been through all history.

A handful of Englishmen manage three hundred millions of Asiatics in India, because the Asiatics, divided by their various religions, hate each other. And fight each other.

But the Mohammedans, Hindus, Buddhists, Parsees, of India, don't hate each other any more bitterly than different classes of workers hate each other in England and America.

This suits the employers and the governing classes extremely well. They unite and rule while labor divides.

Those Foreign Bonds

Nice Wallpaper, Anyhow

Have you got your little collection of foreign bonds? If they don't take care of you in your old age, they will at least make pretty wallpaper. They are always well engraved and printed.

You are notified by the Administration at Washington, for which President Coolidge deserves thanks, that the United States Government will in NO way BACK the selling of foreign bonds here. Financiers, whose profits would amount to tens of millions, mean to unload large packages of bonds among our investors.

If you buy them, you buy them at your own peril. No American soldiers will be sent to collect the money for you, and the United States won't pay it.

Better invest in America.

If you must buy foreign bonds, why not try Mexican bonds? One genial broker, going over the heads of the big financiers, much to their indignation, offers $50,000,000 of Mexican bonds paying 9 per cent. interest. That's more than European bond sellers have offered so far.

Why not give your next door neighbors in Mexico a chance, if you have money to lend? They can't drop any lower than some of those foreign bonds will drop.

How to Spoil Your Child

Forced Education Does It

In Covington, Kentucky, a remarkable little girl, eighteen months old, in a recent test picked out the letters of the alphabet on blocks and gave their names accurately.

It is said that nine-tenths of ALL normal American babies could be taught to do the same thing if they were trained from the very start.

That may be true, but with such early training nine-tenths would go through the rest of their lives under a severe handicap. Human beings that would not allow anybody to force education upon a colt or a puppy three weeks old should know enough not to force education upon their own children at an age when development of the body alone is important.

Plenty of exercise for the muscles, sunshine, fresh air and NO BRAIN stimulation is the program for very young children.

Jump—

And the World Will Notice You

Milton Pavlow, young Greek immigrant, found himself in New York without work or friends, hungry, with exactly five cents left.

He invested the five cents in a trolley ride to the middle of the Brooklyn Bridge, then jumped off.

He survived the 133-foot drop, to his surprise and that of the policeman. Pulled into a boat, he said, "Thanks, Mr. Boss, but I don't know what good it will do."

It will do a LOT of good, to Milton Pavlow. Now that he has jumped off of the Brooklyn Bridge, he will receive the attention that is denied to a man "merely" out of work and starving. He may get a job in the movies as a "stunt" performer, or something else will turn up. If the old saloon existed, he could imitate Brody, who only PRETENDED to jump and didn't, then stood behind his bar and got rich telling about it.

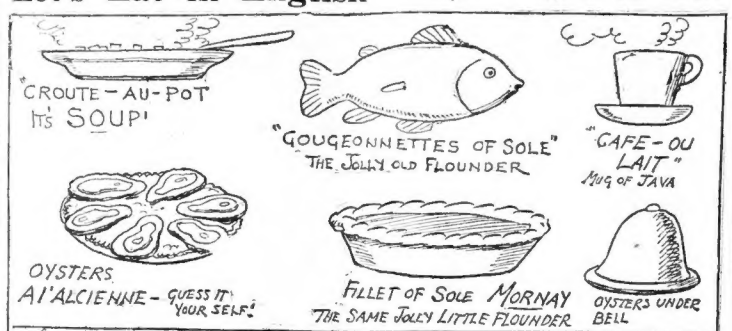
Praise Mussolini

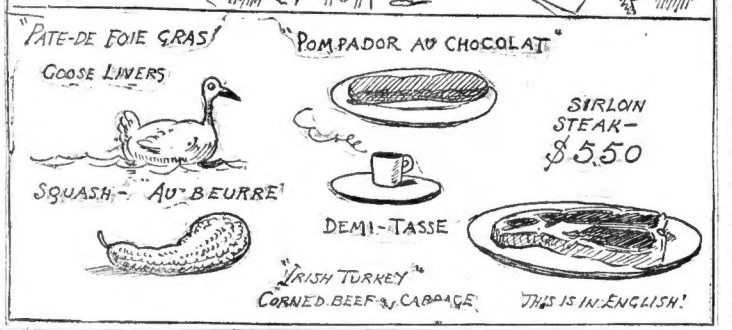
Height Doesn't Make Him Dizzy

Mussolini will build the world's highest skyscraper, a building with 88 floors, 1,100 feet high, the tallest of all buildings, with a frontage of 1,000 feet, containing 4,500 rooms, and 100 large halls, theatre, gymnasium for Olympic athletes, etc., a tower above ancient Rome, at a height two and one-half times that of the cross on St. Peters.

Mussolini is setting a good example to the United States, administering a proper rebuke to our deep officials that limit the height of building instead of encouraging every effort of architect and engineer. Mussolini has courage and imagination. No wonder he succeeds.

Let's Eat in English -:- By T. E. Powers





MRS. SOLOMON SAYS—

By HELEN ROWLAND

ALAS, my Daughter, now cometh the Winter of our discontent and the Autumn of our disenchantment!

Helen Rowland

Lo, now, doth the Summer Boarder return to the city, and behold her "Hero" of the Beach, in a new and revealing light. And, Cinderella, at midnight, was not more astonished at the fading of her dreams.

For he that appeared so fascinating under the light of the Summer moon showeth up as but a Tired Business Man in a ready-made suit.

He, whom she "understood so well," after three days beside the sad sea waves, now appeareth a total stranger in a city drawing room.

He that babbled sweet nothings beneath the stars, and talked so glibly of love in a canoe, now inveigheth of the weather and twiddleth his thumbs and shuffleth his feet, when he sitteth at a tea-table.

He that appeared a Sheik in white flannels and a glorious Son of Nature in a bathing suit, now resembleth a butcher's delivery boy in tweeds and a clothing store dummy in evening clothes.

He that seemed a Prince Charming and a Golden Opportunity, where the men were few and the choice limited, now seemeth but an "also ran" and a "terrible mistake," where the assortment is varied and the heartbreakers are plentiful.

For, verily, verily, there is danger-ous magic in the air of a Summer resort, which maketh the moonlight in a man's eyes to resemble the love-light, and a crooked profile to appear pure Grecian, and a half-portion lightweight to appear stalwart and heroic.

But, a youth that could clasp a damsel in his arms with dramatic fervor where the background was all scenery, may prove but a false alarm against a drawing-room set.

And his golden silences and silvery speeches may seem but pure "brass" in the new perspective.

Go to! The damsel that taketh her Heart to a Summer resort deserveth to get moths therein. For, Summer love, like unto Summer frocks, appeareth strangely faded and tawdry in the cold, gray light of a September morn.

Yea, verily, it is a strong and hardy Summer romance that surviveth until Christmas, and a fe-vid flame that doth not flicker out in the first cool wind of Autumn.

For, a Summer resort is a place where a damsel will resort to Anything, for devotion, and a man will resort to anything for diversion!

Child Needs Care

Helping Hand Editor:

Do you know of a middle aged or elderly woman who wants a good home and would be treated like one of the family in return for taking care of my year and a half boy? I have two other children of school age, who will be no bother to her at all, as they can wait on themselves. She will not be required to do any hard work. I want to go to work to help my husband, who makes very small wages, which are not sufficient to take care of us.

MRS. L.

Baby for Adoption

Helping Hand Editor:

Will some kind woman adopt my little baby girl ten months old? I am unable to care for her. She is light, with blue eyes, and bright.

MRS. L. M. S.

For Two-Year-Old

Helping Hand Editor:

If you will give the address of a mother with a two-year-old son I shall gladly forward her a few articles of clothing the boy can use. I also have a man's rubber raincoat, size 38, in fair condition.

MRS. H. A. S.

Thank you. Mrs. H. E. A. can make good use of both the little boy's clothing and the man's rain-coat.

Mother of Seven Deserted

Helping Hand Editor:

My husband deserted me three years ago, and I have no idea where he is. I have seven small children, five with me, all girls, ages three, five, seven, nine and twelve years, and two with my people. They need shoes, dresses and coats. Sizes of shoes are 6, 7, 10½, 12 and 3½ or 4. Also if you could get me dresses size 38, boots size 4½ or 5 and a Winter coat about 42 size I would be very thankful.

MRS. R. S.

Invalid In Need

Helping Hand Editor:

There is a yong man here with us (convalescent home), who has been crippled with arthritis for six years. He used to be a teacher, but owing to his unfortunate condition has now come to the end of his funds and is dependent upon his friends, the anxiety and humiliation of which hinders his recovery. He is now able to do typewriting and could earn part or all of his living if he had a typewriter. Is there anyone who can give him one? I can give you the best of references from the hospital where he was ill and still goes for treatment.

B. M. S.

Silk Dresses Offered

Helping Hand Editor:

Have three silk dresses and two coats size 38 or 40 and a few other things that could be made over. If you will please send me some one's address that could use these things I would gladly send them.

MRS. S.

Many thanks. Mrs. A. S. is handy with the needle and can make good use of all these things to be made over.

Aged Man In Want

Helping Hand Editor:

I am sixty-five years old and have been out of work twenty weeks. As I am without money, unable to get myself clothes, I am writing to you with the hope that some of your kind readers may be able to help me. I need underwear, size 38 or 40; socks, size 11; shirt, 17 collar. I would be willing to wash dishes, pare vegetables and help around the kitchen for a home and what else they would be willing to give.

FRANK C.

No Wood for Fire

Helping Hand Editor:

My husband was sick for six weeks and someone else has his job. He has hunted everywhere and can't get work, so I must go to work. I am not very strong, but am willing to work at anything during the day, such as restaurant work or housework. I have a sick old mother to take care of, so must be home nights. The other night we all had to go to bed after we ate a bit, as we didn't have any wood to make a little fire. We are awfully poor, but all I ask is that I can get some work.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Young Men's Club

Editor Boston American:

We wish to extend to you our most sincere thanks for the wonderful editorial you wrote in regard to the Young Men's Co-operative Club of Boston. We needed just such an article to help extend our work. Would it be asking too much of you if we looked to you from time to time to help us out in advising and in printing announcements for future work? We would like very much to use the Boston American as the organ through which our plans may be made known to the thousands of working boys.

REST, RECREATION SHOULD BE PLANNED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A MAN'S recreation and rest should be planned for as intelligently as his more forth-putting moments. Otherwise he will find himself swamped by his leisure time.

One should look ahead for his moments of recreation, as he knows that all life is but movement, and all movement is but rhythmical. The strength of a man's blow which he puts out is in proportion to the length and quality of the rest that he puts behind it.

The best rest, always, is a change of occupation. Those who are of sedentary habits should plan for a rest of physical activity and those of active physical occupation should plan more for a rest of quietude.

The subject goes deeper and there is a spiritual rest as well as a mental and physical rest. The wise man of old said: "He went away from God in order to find God."

Unless there be some low in our spiritual activities there can be no high tide. Unless there be a time when we simply lie fallow and let the waves of idleness overcome us there can be no time of full time when we put forth the last increment of strength.

The sun, in its daily journey, is the teacher of mankind. It sinks to rest once every twenty-four hours. So mankind has each day portioned out to him, one at a time. These days can only remain full as they are filled with nights of repose and duly alternated by them.

Perfect rest is a sign of strength and not of weakness. One who can sleep well is, as a usual thing, stronger than one who sleeps fitfully. All of us know that a condition of nerves which prevents us from sleeping is also a condition which prevents our full activities when awake.

The only foundation of the life of action therefore is a life that is duly interpreted by periods of rest.

He therefore who knows how to rest well has learned the first lesson of efficiency.

SECRET OF POLAR NIGHT AND DAY

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

"When the phrases 'six months day,' and 'six months night' are employed with reference to the polar regions, what degree of light and darkness is meant? I suppose that much of the period of both 'day' and 'night' is twilight, is it not?—Tourist."

IF the earth had no atmosphere, the terms six months day and six months night would be practically correct, but owing to the phenomena of refraction and twilight, both produced by the atmosphere, the sunlight indirectly reaches either pole of the earth long after the time when "perpetual night" should have begun there, and long before the theoretical beginning of "perpetual day."

Under favorable circumstances in the temperate zones twilight begins in the morning or ends in the evening when the rotation of the earth has sunk the sun about 18 degrees below the horizon. The time required for this varies with the latitude, being shortest at the equator. The apparent westward motion of the sun through the sky occurs at the rate of 15 degrees per hour, which makes the mean duration of twilight an hour and twelve minutes after sunset and the same before sunrise, and thus nearly two and a half hours of partial illumination are added to the diurnal period of full sunlight.

But at the poles and within the polar circles, the phenomena of the rising and setting of the sun and the duration of twilight are quite different. Why they are different may be seen with the aid of a diagram. The picture shows the situation at the Summer solstice, about June 21, when the sun reaches its highest northern declination (about 23½ degrees), and when the whole area within the Arctic Circle is continually in the sunlight.

The sun is so far north that its light streams right over the pole and reaches down the farther slope of the globe to the latitude 66½ degrees north, which is that of the Arctic Circle. At the pole itself the altitude of the sun above the horizon is 23½ degrees, and in the course of every twenty-four hours, instead of either rising or setting, it simply circles around the sky, keeping very nearly at the same height.

But it does not keep precisely the same altitude. As it winds around the sky, after the solstice, it very slowly sinks toward the horizon. By July 1 it is but a trifle more than 23 degrees high; by July 15 its altitude is about 21½ degrees, and by August 1 it is only 18 degrees. It continues to sink until the Autumn equinox, about September 23, when theoretically and disregarding the effects of refraction which keep it still fully visible for a couple of days, it "sets" for the North Pole. Then twilight begins. Refraction is an uncertain quantity in those latitudes, and we will neglect it; but without refraction the sun takes from September 23 to about November 13 to descend 18 degrees below the horizon of the North Pole. In other words, the evening twilight at the North Pole must last about fifty-one days after the sun has sunk below the equator, or what is the same in effect, below the polar horizon.

In the same way, before the sun rises above the equator (and the North Pole horizon) at the Vernal Equinox, March 20, twilight begins at the pole while the sun is still 18 degrees below. Now the sun reaches that declination (18 degrees 8) January 30, which is about fifty-one days before the Vernal Equinox, e., before the sunrise at the North Pole. So the polar evening and the morning twilights together cover nearly three and a half months, and absolute night, deprived of all trace of sunlight, lasts only about two and a half months each year. But always there is the starlight, sometimes probably there are brilliant auroral illuminations; and after the sun has gone the full moon remains, and the polar full moons may be the most splendid that the earth knows. But that is another story.

ONCE-OVERS

USE YOUR SPARE TIME TO INCREASE YOUR KNOWLEDGE.

When you have time to rest and relax, do you seek the society of persons who are expertly versed along certain lines to get useful information?

You say you are willing to acknowledge that you move in a small circle.

But in that circle do you include anyone who knows more than the limit of your own knowledge and experience?

If you do not seek others who know more, you are moving along the line of the least resistance and you are stagnating.

Those who cease to read books of useful facts in history, science or some development of art are retrograding unless they can make up for it through the company they keep.

If you cannot give out any useful information you have gained in the past five years, aside from the knowledge which you had to gain to make a success in your business, you are missing the best part of living.

For you will find that there are men and women who are studying to increase their knowledge which will make them sought before you, if you do not keep up.

As opportunity comes they spring to take advantage of it, while you are too indifferent to bestir yourself, and in consequence you will lose out.
